LT. GOVERNOR TO DEDICATE LIBRARY HERE

Pennsylvania's Lieutenant Governor Raymond P. Shafer will be the principal speaker at the dedication of the library annex to be held at 4:30 p.m. on Sunday, May 17, it was announced Thursday evening at the April meeting of the library's board of directors.

Earlier that afternoon Lt. Gov. Shafer will dedicate a new school building at Fairfield.

Plans for the dedicatory exercises and for the observance of National Library Week here from April 12 to 18 occupied much of the attention of the directors during the session at which Vice President Donald G. Oyster presided in the absence of President Donald B. Hudson.

PLAN LIBRARY WEEK

Plans for radio interviews, special newspaper publicity, a guest student librarian each day of next week and three window displays were reported by Mrs. Richard Schubert, chairman of the public relations committee, at the library's meeting.

Mrs. Wilson said the building project is moving along well. Shipments of new chairs have arrived and steel shelving has been shipped. Painters are busy in several sections of the library and more divisional moving within the library walls are scheduled as the redecoration work continues.

CHANGE IN STAFF

A personnel committee report by Mr. Keefe, regarding pay schedule changes at the library was referred to the finance committee. There was a discussion of plans for landscaping the library grounds after construction work is completed.

Mrs. Wilson reported the resignation of Mrs. Rita Bergstrom as a member of the library staff and the hiring of Mrs. Louise (Continued On Page 8)

EXPLAINS NEW MATH METHOD TO TEACHERS

Details of the "new mathematics" programs were outlined Thursday evening to Upper Adams teachers and some school board members at a meeting held in the Biglerville school.

Thomas N. McCreary, former head of the mathematics department at Milton Hershey School and now an official of the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction, told the teachers, "Mathematics in the schools has not kept pace with the kind of mathematics scientists and engineers need. The new math courses will help fill that need and will also help elementary children to enjoy mathematics so that as a result they will want to continue math in high school."

OUTLINES SYSTEMS

More than 60 per cent of Pennsylvania's schools now are using at least some forms of the "new mathematics." He outlined a number of the new system of teaching mathematics. He said that the state has not yet evaluated the various programs in order to make a recommendation, but is generally in favor of all the systems.

"Self discovery is the emphasis in the new mathematics. The students, instead of being told that two and two make four are led to discover that fact for themselves. As a result geometry and algebra can be given—although not under those names—to the youngsters in the elementary schools. Fractions can be taught in the First Grades. By Third Grade students have an understanding of equations.

List Preschool Testing Dates

Superintendent of Schools Donald B. Hudson announced today the schedule for the preschool testing of prospective beginners for next fall in the Upper Adams School District.

The testing will be conducted at Arendtsville, Wednesday, April 29, at Bendersville on April 30 and at Biglerville on May 1.

THE SCHOOL ANNOUNCEMENT

said that parents who plan to enter children in the First Grade will be notified by the principals of the respective elementary schools. Parents not receiving letters by April 24 should contact the school immediately. Children must be six years of age by next January 31 to be enrolled.

PARK SERVICE CONFERENCE CLOSES HERE

The first National Park Service Northeast Region maintenance conference came to a close Thursday with Regional Chief of Maintenance Nathan B. Golub telling the 50 superintendents and maintenance men present: "We could not have had a better beginning. Gettysburg was the ideal site for the initial conference."

"We received wonderful cooperation from Gettysburg National Park Superintendent Kittridge Wing and his staff, and from the entire community. The warm hospitality we received here could not be better," he added.

"The purpose of the conference was two-fold. First it was designed to call attention to new methods, materials and techniques in maintenance to keep pace with modern technology in the field. Secondly it enabled our maintenance personnel to swap ideas and new ways of doing things. I believe the conference has more than accomplished these goals."

AWARD FOR STEVENS

The sessions began Monday and were held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on E. Middle St.

During the meetings Assistant Park Director George Palmer spoke of the reorganization of the park service and its effect on maintenance. At the conclusion of his talk, he presented an award of $100 to John Stevens, a foreman on the local park staff, for his "outstanding work" in charge of field operations of the accelerated public works project which cleared trees and brush from the field here during the winter.

2 Brazil Congressmen Are Arrested And Many Others Sought As Red Followers

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — At least two Brazilian congressmen were under arrest today and dozens of others were on the wanted list as Brazil's revolutionary military leaders bypassed Congress to press a nationwide roundup of leftwingers.

At least 49 congressmen were sought on suspicion of subversion in the military's sweeping purge of leftwing extremists and supporters of ousted President Joao Goulart.

Brazil's military ministers announced anti-subversion measures in Rio de Janeiro Thursday night enabling military chiefs to suspend political rights for 10 years and to revoke mandates of federal, state and municipal legislators without court action.

HALT NIGHT SESSION
The powers were contained in an "institutional act" ordered by the military revolutionary command without congressional

OKAY LOAN OF $936,000 TO ADAMS CO-OP

Application for a loan of $936,000 to Adams Electric Cooperative, Inc., to construct new lines, improve existing facilities and provide electric service to 650 new consumers in Adams, York, Cumberland and Franklin counties has been approved by the Rural Electric Administration, Washington, D. C., according to Sen. Joseph S. Clark.

The local firm will construct 65 miles of distribution line, two miles of new tie-line, convert 33 miles of existing line to higher capacity and improve the existing system to meet an engineering survey made two years ago. The 65 miles of new lines to be built will consist of taps to existing lines and do not represent extensions of lines into new areas, a company spokesman said.

2-WAY FEEDING

The new tie-line will be constructed from the Orrtanna substation to permit two-way feeding from power stations in the event of power failure. The Orrtanna station is one of 11 in the four-county area served by Adams Electric. The conversion of existing lines to higher capacity is the result of additional demands.

The company reports that the demand for electric current in the four-county area doubles every seven years because of new construction and increased use. The average Adams Electric consumer now uses 5,100 kilowatt hours of current a year, and consumption increases approximately eight per cent annually because of the addition of appliances and conversion to electric heat.

Adams Electric serves 2,800 consumers in Adams county and a total of 7,400 in the four-county area.

DELONE PTA MEETING SET FOR SUNDAY

The annual spring open meeting of the Delone Catholic High School Parent Teachers Association, to include election of officers, will be held on Sunday beginning at 2 p.m., in the cafeteria of the high school.

Plans were discussed for this event at the April meeting of the PTA board on Thursday evening in the faculty room of the school. The Rev. William R. Lyons, principal of the high school, noted that the program will be a surprise, highlighting some facet of school life. The women of the board will be in charge of the refreshments.

Father Lyons opened the meeting with prayer. Russell Zimmerman, president, was in charge. Mrs. Marguerite Fraumeni gave the secretary's report. The calendar of events for the remainder of the school year includes, in addition to the open meeting, the National Honor Society initiation at an assembly on Wednesday of next week; the drama and music festival on Sunday, April 26; the fourth and final public party in charge of the freshmen class members and their parents on May 2; the annual Junior Prom on May 8; the spring band festival on May 10; Baccalaureate service at Sacred Heart Basilica on May 24; commencement at the Park Theater on May 31, when Dr. Neal Musmanno, state dep-

Congress May Be Asked To Act If Rail Strike Threat Isn't Settled In 15 Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, having won a delay of any nationwide rail strike, pressed through personal talks today toward a goal of easing the strike threat altogether.

The President invited labor and management representatives to negotiate at the White House.

And, in another personal touch, he held a conference in his office with Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and four other federal officials.

Next, Johnson got the union and management men out in the rose garden and made a direct appeal to them.

HONORABLE SOLUTION

He told them that he wanted "an honorable solution — not a solution imposed by decree."

The President expressed confidence that the outcome of the talks would be in the interest of all Americans.

Noting that the rail work rules dispute, which underlies the strike threat, has defied all negotiating efforts for the past four years, Johnson said "We begin as failures. We will finish, I hope, as successes."

He urged an agreement within 15 days "if not sooner."

The President late Thursday night persuaded five railroad brotherhoods to postpone, for 15 days, a nationwide strike that had been scheduled for 12:01 a.m. today.

PROTECT ALL RIGHTS

Johnson said that he, personally, approached the negotiations "free of any preconceptions," but with the conviction that the rights of labor, management and the public must be protected.

"The national interest, in all cases, is overriding; but the national interest is never truly served when individual rights are suppressed," Johnson said.

The President voiced what appeared to be an indirect warning that if there is no agreement he will ask Congress to take a hand with new legislation.

One hundred eight attended the annual Future Farmers of America-Future Homemakers of America banquet Thursday night at New Oxford High School.

Wilson Linebaugh, Abbotstown R. 1, was presented with an honorary chapter degree by the Lower Adams FFA. He is father of Robert Linebaugh, of the New Oxford FFA, who received the Keystone Farmer Degree at the Farm Show in January. The younger Linebaugh was presented with a degree pen at the banquet.

Robert Zeigler was presented an FFA jacket for being the top salesman of both seeds and cards. Hillen Rife received a locket for being second in seed selling and Dennis Reynolds a wallet for being second in card selling.

R. D. SINGLEY, MECHANIC, DIES

Russell Denton Singley, 63, Fairfield R. 1, died at the Warner Hospital this morning at 1:11 o'clock. He had been in ill health for two years and was admitted to the hospital a short time before his death.

He had been employed for 30 years as a mechanic at the Cashtown Garage.

He was a lifelong resident of Adams County and was born near Fairfield. He was a son of the late John and Sarah (Plank) Singley.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Elva (Sides) Singley; one son, William C., Cashtown; two grandchildren; two brothers, Earl, Orrtanna R.D., and Mervin Singley of McKnightstown.

He was a member of St. John's United Church of Christ at Fairfield; the Fairfield Fire Company; the Adams County Firemen's Association, and the Adams County Fish and Game Association.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Wilson Funeral Home in Fairfield, with the Rev. Robert Paden, his pastor, and the Rev. Amos Funk officiating. Interment will be made in the Fairfield Union Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home Saturday evening after 7 o'clock.

Members of the Fairfield Fire Company will meet at the fire hall at 7:30 o'clock Saturday evening to go in a body to the viewing.

HS ALUMNI TO MEET

Notices have been issued for a meeting of the Alumni Council of the Gettysburg High School next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Keefeauver Elementary School. Letters will be prepared for mailing for the annual banquet and dance to be held May 29, according to the notices issued by the secretary, Miss Mary Ellen Martz.

COUNTY CHILD WELFARE UNIT DINNER HELD

Adams County's Child Welfare Services Thursday evening marked its 25th anniversary at a dinner honoring the foster parents held in the Trinity Reformed Church, S. Stratton St.

Rev. Dr. Dwight F. Putman, Harrisburg, who was chairman of the board which established Child Welfare services here in 1939, told the group: "I am impressed. The 25 years have been a glorious quarter of a century in this field."

He, Dr. C. Wilson Anderson, commissioner of the state's Office of Children and Youth; Miss Beatrice Robinson, field representative from the state office to the county Child Welfare; Miss Dorothy Curtis, director of the county Child Welfare Services, and other speakers, including Advisory Committee Chairman Luther W. Ritter, Littlestown, who was master of ceremonies, paid tribute to the foster parents, noting: "We can make plans, but the foster parents are the ones who provide the loving care and guidance the children need."

CREDIT TO JUDGE

Dr. Putman said: "One who deserves the most credit for establishing Child Welfare services here is Judge W. C. Sheely. Without his help I don't know what we would have done. It was not that there was opposition to establishment of the Child Welfare services, rather it was a lack of understanding on the part of almost everyone. This was something new, and Judge Sheely spent hours and hours at conferences, in speaking to everyone he knew, in helping us in many ways over rough spots. He was really tremendous."

Dr. Vernard Group presented a brief summary of the history of the services over the 25-year period. He noted: "I think it has always been characteristic of the county to help those in need. There were always families that took children 'to raise,' as they called it. Churches took up the burden and we had orphanages here."

"I think it is worth mentioning that the churches were among the leaders in establishing our Child Welfare services. Various committees and groups all over the county were working toward the idea of Child Welfare services, and on February 25, 1939, a (Continued On Page 2)

RUMMAGE SALE STACKED WITH ITEMS GALORE

The World's Fair probably won't have as many attractions as there are at the Hospital Auxiliary rummage sale.

It's the greatest collection of essentials in town, with more selections than most department stores offer. From furniture and appliances, to ready-to-wear and household items, from men's wear to children's toys . . . and none of it priced at nearly what it's worth.

The annual spring rummage sale, sponsored by the Hospital Auxiliary and the Rotary Club in the presence of the Hotel Gettysburg, will be open to the public until 5 o'clock this afternoon and from 8 until noon Saturday.

Workman Badly Hurt In Accident

John C. Nary, 48, Gettysburg R. 3, is in a critical condition and under intensive care in the York Hospital after an accident Thursday morning while he was working at Pinchot Park.

Nary, a heavy equipment operator for Charles F. Smith and Sons, Inc., Kennett Square, was struck in the back of the head by a heavy chain that had snapped while a truck was being pulled over an embankment.

Oscar R. Gruver, Dover ambulance driver, said Nary was unconscious in the office of Dr. W. Paul Mahan in Dover when Nary was placed in the ambulance for the trip to York. He was in surgery for more than four hours Thursday afternoon at the hospital.

The accident occurred about 11:30 a.m.

QUEEN, COURT TO BE GUESTS AT SUNDAY TEA

Mrs. Richard Trostel will entertain the apple blossom queen and her court Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at a tea at her home at Biglerville R. 1. Other guests will be parents of the contestants and officers of the Adams County Fruitgrowers Association.

The new apple blossom queen, Miss Martha McDannell, will be crowned May 3 in ceremonies at South Mountain Fairgrounds as one of the highlights of the blossom program, which is expected to attract again thousands of persons to the county to see the orchards at peak of bloom.

While May 3 has been proclaimed Blossom Sunday, thousands of visitors are expected to tour the fruit belt throughout the weekend of May 1-3. A special excursion of the Reading Railroad will bring more than 800 persons to the county May 2 on the Iron Horse Ramble to see the fruit section and the battlefield.

Buses will be provided by Gettysburg Tours, Inc., to take Iron Horse passengers through the 17,000-acre fruit area during the three-hour stopover in Gettysburg. The Fruitgrowers Association will provide guides for the buses.

Mrs. Trostel has announced that the new queen and her runner-up, Miss Diane Lynn, will appear on television programs in Harrisburg and Lancaster April 29 and 30. The 1963 queen, Sonja Beamer Brough, will appear on the Adams County Junior Chamber of Commerce float at the state Jaycee convention parade in York, May 1, representing the county's fruit industry.

CHANGE FUNERAL HOUR

Funeral services for Mrs. Virginia M. Fritz Funk, 39, who died Wednesday afternoon at her home in McSherrystown, have been changed to 10 o'clock Monday morning in Annunciation Church, preceded by prayers at the Walter Funeral Home at 9:30 o'clock. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick F. McGee will be celebrant.

EASTER SEAL REPORT

The most recent report on receipts from Easter Seal sales by the Adams County Society for Crippled Children and Adults, issued today by its treasurer, Mrs. George B. Inskip, showed a total of $3,293.21. The sale was conducted during March but donations continue to come in, Mrs. Inskip said.

Thousands File Past Bier Of Old Soldier In Rotunda Of Memorial To MacArthur

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The old soldier was home today, his last long journey at an end.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur lay in repose in a flag-draped coffin on a catafalque over the crypt containing his tomb into which he will be lowered Saturday.

And this old Navy town turned out by the thousands to pay final respects to the warrior most known only by his glory and the symbols of his fame—the crushed campaign hat and the cornucopia pipe.

WILL LIE IN STATE

He will lie in state as the long lines pass through the pillared MacArthur Memorial until the Episcopal funeral services at the pink and black crypt.

The reason MacArthur chose to be buried in the memorial named for him is that his mother was born, raised and married in this seaport. The general, who always called himself a

WARNER BOARD VOICES THANKS TO AUXILIARY FOR SERVICE

The dedicated service of the auxiliary to the Warner Hospital was brought into sharp focus at the directors' meeting, held Thursday evening in the Museum Memorial Annex with a resolution of thanks adopted by the unanimous vote of the board.

The motion, made by Dr. C. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College, followed announcement of the donation of an anesthesia ventilator for use in surgery, costing in excess of $900, and an Isolette for the maternity department, costing in excess of $1,000.

It was further reported that the auxiliary will install 16 air-conditioners in patient rooms at a cost of $3,900. These units are scheduled for installation in May and, with one additional unit from a room sponsor, only six private rooms in maternity and the nursery will be without air-conditioning.

OTHER PROJECTS

These gifts to the hospital are the end result of various projects undertaken by the auxiliary during the past year including the snack bar, photo-babe, the successful bazaar and the rummage sale which the auxiliary is conducting today and Saturday morning, in collaboration with the Rotary Club, in the presence of the Hotel Gettysburg.

Prior to the adoption of the resolution, which recorded also the scores of gifts to the hospital through the auxiliary's years of dedicated service to the hospital, Dr. W. R. Cadie, in his report to the board, told of the value of the anesthesia ventilator to the surgery service.

NEW FLUSHINK

President John D. Teeter, presiding over the meeting, called for reports from all committees.

Among actions taken was approval of the recommendation of the building and grounds committee, for the installation of a new flushink at a cost of $300. The committee was also authorized to purchase an air compressor following studies of specifications and proposals.

At the request of Richard Livingston, chairman of the personnel committee, Teeter increased the number on that committee from four to six by (Continued On Page 8)

BIGLER CLUB WINS AWARDS AT YORK MEET

The Biglerville Garden Club won six awards Thursday at the annual spring meeting of the District Four Garden Club Federation at the Outdoor Country Club, York, and J. Leslie Bowling, Gettysburg Club member, received an award for his contribution to horticulture. The meeting was attended by 23 members of the Biglerville and Gettysburg garden clubs.

Awards to the Biglerville Club were for horticulture, conservation, litterbug programs, sale of federation bulbs, in which the club was third in the district, continued support and interest in the national federation and outstanding work with Girl Scouts.

Mrs. Ralph D. Heim, Gettysburg Club president, accepted the award for Mr. Bowling. A. O. Rasmussen, professor of ornamental horticulture at Pennsylvania State University, addressed the afternoon session of the meeting on "Facilitating the Home Grounds."

MEET APRIL 23

Mrs. J. VanCleave Lott, program chairman of the Gettysburg Club, invited the 143 guests to attend an open meeting in Gettysburg, April 23, when Mrs. Frank Harris, Mt. Airy, Md., will demonstrate the art of drying flowers. The Gettysburg Club will host the fall district meeting in November.

Members attending from the Gettysburg Club in addition to Mrs. Lott and Mrs. Heim were Mrs. Robert H. Reynolds, Mrs. William A. Bigham, Mrs. Frank Bruner, Mrs. Harold Schuch, William Ayre, Mrs. George Zerkling, Mrs. R. H. Powell, Mrs. Milton Tipton, Mrs. Corner Sharpe and Mrs. Guile Lefever.

The Biglerville Club was represented by Mrs. Earl Carey, Mrs. O. A. Nary, Mrs. H. David Pitzer, Mrs. W. K. Enck, Mrs. Mildred Shields, Mrs. Clyde Orner, Mrs. Ward Houck, Mrs. Henry Lower, Mrs. Arthur Boynton, Mrs. J. Paul Hollebaugh and Mrs. J. Henry Donaher.

EMMITSBURG MAN MAY HAVE TRIED SUICIDE

Charles R. Andrews, 63, 717 W. Main St., Emmitsburg, is in critical condition today in the Warner Hospital suffering from a heart attack and the effects of carbon monoxide poisoning which Maryland State Police believe resulted when he attempted to commit suicide Thursday morning.

Andrews, who has suffered several heart attacks in recent years, was found unconscious about 10 o'clock Thursday morning in his truck in a wooded area off the Harbaugh Valley Rd., near Emmitsburg, by Lewis Harbaugh, who said the motor was running and he believed that Andrews had suffered another heart attack. He summoned Maryland State Police and the victim was removed in the Emmitsburg ambulance to the Warner Hospital.

HOSE AND NOTES

Following the man's removal from the truck cab, state police discovered a section of garden hose which had been attached to the exhaust pipe of the truck and run through the floor into the cab. The investigating officer also found three illegible notes on the truck seat.

Dr. G. L. Morningstar, Emmitsburg physician who has treated Andrews for previous heart attacks, said that the man has been depressed for some time. He expressed the belief that Andrews suffered another heart attack before being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes.

COUNTY CHILD

meeting was held in the YWCA at which Dr. Putman was elected president and the county Child Welfare Association formed.

RECALLS BEGINNING

"Among the other members of that first board were H. W. Knouse and Mrs. Guy Wenk who are with us tonight. The first child welfare worker was Miss Elsie Robertson. She gave a five-month report in July, 1939, which showed that the services had started with three children in foster homes and by July 25 children were under Child Welfare care. The organization ran short of money and the county commissioners provided funds for individual children's care.

In July 24, 1940, the county commissioners affiliated the local Child Welfare Services with the state organization."

Rev. Herman Stumpf, of the local Lutheran Theological Seminary, told the group: "My purpose is to thank you on behalf of the community for, in caring for the children, you serve as representatives of our community. There was a day when we all knew each other, and could take care of each other. But with the population explosion we have become comparative strangers to each other. Along with growth in population, problems have grown in proportion.

"We are all individuals, but with growth we need organization to see that what needs be done will be done. We are grateful that while the organization has grown you have kept the personal touch. Children need tender individual love and care. We are grateful to you because all of us should realize that it could be our own children for whom you are caring. And we know that your work is recognized by greater eyes above. The compassion you show to these children has its reward for Christ has said, 'Inasmuch as you have done this to one of these, the least of my brothers, you have done it unto Me.'"

"In the final reckoning our own test of worth will not be how well we split the atom, or how we fared in the race to the moon, but what did we do about the racial crises, did we open the way for our racial minorities? How well did we empty the pockets of poverty? How well did we empty the pockets of poverty? How well did we respond to the underdeveloped nations? How have we helped those who cannot help themselves. This group is giving one answer."

Littlestown High School girls provided entertainment forming a chorus and a "Beatles" group. Miss Curtis introduced the foster parents present.

County Commissioners Atlee Robert and G. Edwin Motter praised the services.

DEDICATION APRIL 17

During their stay here the National Park delegates were shown over the battlefield by Superintendent Wing and Historian Martin Conway. Included in the tour were the park maintenance areas and the Visitor Center.

During the meeting it was announced that the Stephen T. Mather Interpretive Training and Research Center at Harpers Ferry, W. Va., will be dedicated April 17 at 10:45 a.m. Named for the first director of the National Park Service, the new center is designed to provide a comprehensive training program for Park Service uniformed personnel, historians, naturalists and archeologists engaged in the field of interpretation. The center will utilize the campus and buildings of the former Stoner College.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in lively trading early today following postponement of the railroad strike deadline.

Key stocks rose from fractions to a point or so. Ralls moved up moderately. New York Central added nearly a point. Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific and Baltimore & Ohio were among fractional gainers.

WILL PREACH AT FAIRFIELD

The Rev. Herbert W. Stroup Jr., professor in the Practical Theology Department and dean of students of the Gettysburg Seminary, will be the guest preacher at the 10:30 a.m. service in Zion Lutheran Church, Fairfield, Sunday.

William Diamond, student field worker from the seminary, will be liturgist and the girls' ensemble of the Youth Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Otto Kroeger, will sing "Blow Golden Trumpets." Thomas Kittinger will accompany the special music and will serve as organist for the service. The girls' ensemble includes Elaine Reindollar, Ann Scott, Carol McLaughlin, Susan Sanders, Mary Ann Kittinger, Jeanne Reindollar, Barbara Reindollar, Pamela Taylor, Cathy Andrew and Peggy Kessling.

Prof. Stroup is a native of Harrisburg and a graduate of Gettysburg College and Seminary. His M.A. degree in clinical psychology is from George Washington University in Washington, D. C. He is a candidate for the Ph.D. at George Washington University. He has served pastorates in Mercersburg, Raleigh, N. C., and Camp Hill. He was a chaplain in the U.S. Navy from 1945-1946.

The pastor of Zion Church, the Rev. Otto Kroeger, will be attending an advance seminar in human relations at Green Lake, Wis., April 12 to 15. From April 19 through the 25, Pastor Kroeger will be on the staff at the ninth annual Protestant leadership laboratory at Green Lake under the sponsorship of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the USA. In his absence, the field worker, William Diamond, will preach in Zion Church, Sunday, April 19.

FORMER ADAMS RESIDENT DIES

Maurice E. Griest, 80, formerly of Guernsey, died Thursday at his home in Swarthmore. He was the last of seven children of Cyrus and Letitia Griest, and was a birthright member of Menallen Friends Meeting, where he continued to maintain his membership after his graduation from Swarthmore College in 1904 as a civil engineer. He was a cousin of Frederic E. Griest, Florida Dale.

He was first married in 1910 to Madge Heacock, Philadelphia, who lived less than a year after the marriage. In 1935, he married Mrs. Francis E. Hunter, Wilmington, Del., who survives. He also is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Katherine Griest Seibel, Baltimore, and Mrs. Letitia Griest Gierse, Buck Hill Falls; a nephew, C. Raymond Michener, also of Buck Hill Falls; a stepson and a stepdaughter.

He served as an engineer with such firms as the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad, McClinton and Marshall Steel Co., and the Niles Tool Company of Ohio. He later joined the Land Title and Trust Company of Philadelphia in the real estate and maintenance department, and upon compulsory retirement accepted a similar position with the Northern Trust Company of Philadelphia, where he was a vice president at the time of his death.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the Rigby Funeral Home, Media. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Cancer Fund. Burial will be made in Wilmington, Del.

NEGRO MEMBER OF MARYLAND SENATE SHOT

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—A gunman fired five shots at Verda Welcome, only Negro member of the Maryland Senate, as she stepped from her car at her home early today.

She was slightly injured when two of the bullets grazed her lower back and left heel.

"I'm just so stunned I don't know what to say," Mrs. Welcome said after being treated by her husband, Dr. Henry C. Welcome, at their home.

"Why, I don't know," she said. "It's just a miracle that the bullets just grazed me."

WAS AT DINNER

Mrs. Welcome, who first introduced a public accommodations bill in the Maryland House of Delegates in 1959, was returning from a testimonial dinner at a downtown hotel.

"I had noticed some posters in the back seat and was leaning over, putting them in the front seat when I heard a shot and the left rear window shattered," she said.

"Then the right rear window shattered, but I thought I was just caught in the middle of something going on in the street."

"When I heard the third shot, I realized something had struck me. I started screaming and fell on the seat, but it only stung and I thought I had been hit by some of the glass."

FIND 5 SLUGS

The fourth or fifth shot went through her shoe and grazed her heel.

Dr. Welcome had attended another function at the same hotel and had arrived home only about 15 minutes earlier.

He rushed out at the sound of shots, but saw no one.

Police said five cartridges and five slugs from a 32-caliber automatic weapon were found.

Mrs. Welcome, Democrat who represents Baltimore's 4th District, was one of the staunchest backers of the new statewide public accommodations bill.

She introduced an omnibus civil rights bill in the House of Delegates in 1959, but it failed to pass.

TO ANNOUNCE OSCAR AWARDS MONDAY NIGHT

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Next Monday is the night for the annual Academy shenanigans, and the glitter will be there, if not the winners.

One half or less than half of the actors nominated for movie-dom's big prize will be present at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium when the Oscarcast begins at 7 p.m. local time. And most of the favorites appear to be among the missing.

But Oscar will carry on, as he always has.

Come what may, Dick Dunlap will be prepared. This is his fourth year of directing the big bash, and he has 12 cameras ready to catch the action. This year he'll even take to the air.

'COPTER SHOT

"We'll start the show with a helicopter shot, coming in over the ocean right up to the auditorium as the cars are driving up," he said. "It should be effective. We'll have to pretape it at 6 because there won't be enough light an hour later."

Other parts of the show will be pretaped due to the number of no-shows. Dunlap went to England recently to shoot some of the nominees who won't be able to attend Patricia Neal, who is 8 months pregnant, and Rachel Roberts, wife of another nominee, Rex Harrison.

"I taped three of the supporting actress nominees because they aren't familiar to most television viewers," he added. They included Diane Cilento and Margaret Rutherford, who are making films in England, and Joyce Redman, who is in a play.

There are several other no-shows with varied excuses. Paul Newman is opening the same night on Broadway in "Baby Want a Kiss" with his Oscar-winning wife, Joanne Woodward. Albert Finney is in Tahiti or someplace on a world tour. Hugh Griffith is playing Falstaff at Stratford on Avon.

The Los Angeles Dodgers used only 13 players in disposing of the New York Yankees in four straight games in the 1963 World Series.

School at 9:30 a.m.; worship at 10:30 a.m.; Men's EUB, WSWS, Youth Fellowship at 7:30 p.m. Sacred Heart Basilica, Conewago. Rev. John P. Bolen, pastor. Masses at 7 and 9:30 a.m.; confessions at 9 a.m.; Novena, devotions and Benediction at 7 p.m. Daily Mass at 7 a.m. except Wednesday and Saturday. Saturday, Mass at 8 a.m.; confessions from 4 to 5, and 6 to 7 p.m.

Presbyterian, Gettysburg. Rev. Robert A. MacAskill, pastor. Church School at 9:15 a.m.; college group in the Calvin lounge at 9:30 a.m.; worship, with observance of national Christian College Day at 10:45 a.m.; Junior and Senior High Fellowships at 6:30 p.m.; meeting of trustees in the Calvin lounge at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Girl Scouts at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Circle Two meeting at the home of Mrs. Jay L. Sixes, Grandview Terrace, at 8 p.m. Thursday, Girl Scouts at 4 p.m.; Women's Bible Class at 6:30 p.m.; Junior Choir at 6:45 p.m.; Youth Choir at 7:15 p.m.; Adult Choir at 8 p.m. Saturday, Saturday Evening Club in the Fellowship Hall at 7:30 p.m.

Mt. Trinity Lutheran, York Springs. Rev. Ray E. Jones, pastor. Church School at 9:30 a.m.; the service with installation of Luther League officers at 10:45 a.m.; Luther League rally for the Gettysburg District at 2 p.m. Monday, Teen Choir at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, Willing Workers' fellowship supper at 6:30 p.m.; council meeting at 8 p.m.

Wednesday, confirmation class two at 3:30 p.m.; Junior Choir practice at 3:30 p.m.; Senior Choir at 8 p.m. Thursday, Gettysburg District meeting of pastors and church representatives at 7:30 p.m.

Most Of Nation Has Fine Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fair skies and moderate temperatures blanketed most of the nation today.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific the Weather Bureau reported clear weather except for showers in the far Northwest and occasional sprinkles near Lake Michigan and in the Florida Keys.

Early morning temperatures were close to seasonal normals with readings from the 30s in the Northeast to the 70s in southern Florida and the Southwest.

REAL RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

If you're over 35 and you feel grouchy, out-of-sorts — your trouble may be due to constipation caused by a slowed-down system. The laxative you're used to may no longer be best for you. Try SUTANT, the all-vegetable laxative aid especially made for folks over 35.

SUTANT provides the peristaltic stimulation to wake up your slowed-down system. This is entirely different from pills, salts or oils. SUTANT acts like the naturally laxative hydrogel in fruits and vegetables to bring real relief from constipation. So, after 35, take SUTANT daily to help stimulate your slowed-down system to more normal regularity. Remember when you read SUTANT health words, it spells nature's.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Dr. N. Sterrett To Wed Tonight At Port Royal: The marriage of Miss Caroline Kloss Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Robinson, of Port Royal, to Dr. W. North Sterrett, son of Mrs. William E. Sterrett, of Mifflintown, will be solemnized this evening at 6 o'clock in the Presbyterian church at Port Royal. The Rev. John Robinson, of Altoona, will officiate using the double-ring ceremony of the church.

Leonard Carlson, at the console of the organ, will play the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin," by Wagner, as the processional and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" as the recessional.

Attending the bride will be her two sisters, Mrs. Raymond M. Hale Jr., of Ardenstville, as matron-of-honor, and Miss Jean Robinson, of New York City, as maid of honor, and the following bridesmaids: Miss Jane Sterrett, of Philadelphia, a cousin of the bridegroom; Miss Maude Neill, of Lewistown, a cousin of the bride; Miss Naomi Sweetzer, of Mifflintown, and Miss Betty Burkett, of New Haven, Conn.

Little Miss Ann Hale, four-year-old niece of the bride, will serve as flower girl. Billy Hale, nephew of the bride, will serve as ring bearer.

The bride is a graduate of the Port Royal high school and of the nursing school of the Presbyterian hospital in Philadelphia and previous to last January served as a member of the nursing staff of the hospital.

The bridegroom was graduated from the Mifflintown high school, Washington and Jefferson college and the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. He served his internship at the Episcopal hospital, Philadelphia, after which he enlisted with the medical corps of the Army. He served for 29 months, most of which time he saw service in the Philippine Islands and Japan. He was separated in December of 1946 with the rank of Captain. He then became associated with Dr. Raymond M. Hale in the practice of medicine in Ardenstville where he is now located.

37 Will Join St. James On Palm Sunday: Palm Sunday will be observed at St. James Lutheran church at both services Sunday. The traditional confirmation service is scheduled for Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. At that time the 37 boys and girls who have received catechetical instruction for the past six months will be received into the membership of the church by laying on of hands. Dr. Ralph E. Gresh, pastor, will be in charge of the rite of confirmation. The liturgist for the service will be Charles W. Reider, a student assistant at St. James.

The Senior High School choir will participate in the service and render two anthems. The first number is to be "Prepare the Way" a Swedish melody with soprano solo by Arlene Lewis. For their second number they will sing "The Palm" by J. Faure. Dr. Gresh will address the confirmation class on the theme "The Call to Life Dedication."

THOSE NEGLECTED NICETIES
It isn't always the big acts that stir the world. It's the small, every day, and so often neglected niceties that count most among us all.

These are what keep love alive, and cement friends for a lifetime. Love and friends are like flowers — to live and grow, both need plenty of refreshing water as well as nourishment. Neglect either and death is the result.

Too many of us get so intimate with those we love that we sometimes say to ourselves: "Oh, he (or she) will understand. I won't have to dress up especially, or go to much trouble, or use this best stationery to write him, or look my best when he comes home." But it's just these neglected little niceties that make all the difference in the world.

It doesn't pay, either, to get "too used" to anyone. It wears away something. Our friends should always appear fresh to us, and we to them. Innate cleanliness and orderliness always pay dividends. And they are not things to be neglected nor to be put away on shelves in our mind.

Little remembrances, with valuations far above anything of intrinsic worth, often mean more than pure gold. All through life we like to be remembered — remembered for ourselves alone, and not for anything that we have especially done, or been. Remembered for something that we are.

There was a lady whom I used to see nearly every day in the town where I once lived. She never seemed to care how she looked around the house, or among her intimate friends. One day I met her on the street and she was so "dolled up" that I didn't recognize her until she spoke! I wondered why she had kept herself concealed for so long. Apparently she was unacquainted with those little niceties that make for a living personality.

How often we hear the expression: "Well, now, wasn't that a wonderful thing for him to have done!" It probably wasn't half as wonderful as it was natural. Just the act of one who made it a point never to neglect the niceties of life.

Just Folks

WHEN THE BABY ARRIVES
When a little baby comes
Little fingers, little thumbs,
Little chubby feet and toes
And the little button nose
Give the mother more delight
Than the stars which shine at night.

Others race to get a view
Of that little baby new
Come the grandmas hastening there
In the happiness to share,
And among the wondering crowd
Walk the grandpas, very proud.

Come a most devoted aunt,
Whom no other can supplant,
To discover endless charms
In those little dimpled arms
And to bring, as aunts do,
Little gifts of pink or blue.

So in a manner quaint and strange
Thus the lives of many change.
With new hope the future gleams,
New delights, new cares, new dreams,
And with joy the old world hums
When a little baby comes.

BOEHM GOING TO COLOMBIA ON WEDNESDAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Education Association (NEA), said Dr. Charles Boehm, Pennsylvania's superintendent of public instruction, will leave for Colombia Wednesday with two colleagues to work with that country's Ministry of Education National Planning Office.

Boehm will head the three-man team which will help Colombia with its school problems as part of the Alliance for Progress program.

The three men will concentrate their activities in the elementary and secondary school field and a teacher education. That part of the work will be financed by a $170,000 contract awarded by the Agency for International Development to the NEA.

TO GET $20,000

Boehm, who has already announced he will resign his Pennsylvania post to undertake the 18-month project, will advise the Colombian government on administrative organization and school finance, the NEA said.

The two other members of the team are Glenn Varner, former assistant superintendent of secondary and vocational education in St. Paul, Minn., public schools, and Prof. Herbert Gooden, on leave from Trenton, N.J., State College.

Boehm's resignation from the state Department of Public Instruction does not become effective until May 8. However, he will be using vacation time allotted to him by the state to enter into an orientation program with the federal government. The NEA says Boehm will receive an annual salary of $20,000.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Premier Thanom Kittikachorn says an investigating committee has found the late Premier Sarit Thanarat set aside millions of dollars in state funds for secret and so far unexplained official projects.

The premier told newsmen the committee discovered 54 million baht (about $2.7 million) drawn from the Finance Ministry in a Bangkok bank account a code name.

He said 12 million baht (about $600,000) of this amount had been used.

Thanom said the committee would continue its investigation. He said all funds belonging to the state would be reclaimed. Sarit died Dec. 8 of a liver ailment after ruling Thailand for more than five years.

TOKYO (AP) — An ultra-rightist who tried to assassinate Premier Hayato Ikeda was sentenced today to five years imprisonment by the District Court in Fukushima.

Takao Ishimoto, a member of the Great Japan Patriotic Youth organization, was arrested last November while trying to approach Ikeda with a knife in his hand. The premier was campaigning in Fukushima.

Ishimoto denied he intended to kill Ikeda. But the court said the evidence showed that Ishimoto planned to kill the premier because his policy toward Communist China wasn't tough enough.

BOYLE'S Grab Bag

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring is the season for self-improvement.

It is a good time to hold a double-talk drill to brush up on your conversational skill.

Double-talk is the old banana oil that greases the social gears in our creaky civilization. It is the art of saying something meaningful in any situation without disclosing what you are really thinking.

SOME EXAMPLES

Here are a few examples of double-talk in action—followed by their literal translations:

"Heavens, dear, it's been ages and ages since I last saw you." And then my luck had to change.

"Um-m-m-m. What a really yummy dish! You simply must give me your recipe." While you're at it, lend me a stomach pump too.

"Oh, professor, your lecture was absolutely enchanting — it carried me away." If I don't pass in this course, I'll never get initiated into my sorority.

SOME OTHER THOUGHTS

"Don't tell me you're 55 years old. I'd never have guessed it." I'd have guessed you already were drawing Social Security.

"With me your word is as your bond." It has to be—after all, what company would bond you?

"Jim, you've got the neatest looking hair on any man I know." Why is it you never can put your toupee on straight?

"The main thing is that every citizen go to the polls and vote—regardless of which candidate he favors." If you're not going to vote for me, stay home.

ONLY A NUT

"Of course I want to take you to church today, Martha." Only a nut would play golf in this kind of weather.

"I believe every man has a right to stand up on his own two feet and say what's on his mind." If you'll ever shut up, I'll tell you what's on mine.

"Stop worrying. I wouldn't breathe a word of this to anybody in the world." Now, who'll I tell first?

"No, I'm not angry with you. Live and let live—that's my motto." So please drop dead.

PALMER FIRES 69 IN OPENER AT AUGUSTA

By JIM BECKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, smoking less and finally enjoying it, mustered the deserters back to Arnie's Army today after he opened his bi-annual charge at the Masters Golf Tournament title with a first-round 69.

It was good for one-fifth of the opening-round lead, as the five tied for the lead composed the largest bunch at the top since the tournament began in 1934.

Gary Player of South Africa, who won the Masters in 1961 and lost to Palmer in a playoff the next year, also had 69. So did Kel Nagle of Australia, who nosed out Palmer for the British Open title in 1960.

71 FOR NICKLAUS

The other two in the five-man cluster were Bob Goalby, a tour veteran who said he "has been in a slump for a year and a half," and Davis Love Jr., a bespectacled club pro who looks more like a baffled bookkeeper than a golfer.

Jack Nicklaus, defending champion and favorite to be the first man ever to win twice in a row, almost made it a six-way tie when he rapped his second shot to within 12 feet of the pin on the 18th hole.

Nicklaus needed the putt for a birdie three and a 69, but he hit the hole and skidded four feet past, missed that one coming back and finished with a 71. "I had 37 putts," Nicklaus said. "You can't win tournaments with 37 putts."

3-TIME WINNER

Palmer, who won the Masters in 1958, 1960 and 1962, picked up recruits for his gallery army. Enthusiasts had been falling off during his long slump since late last summer—when he smashed daring wood shots over the water on the 13th and 15th holes and collected birdie 4s on each.

Part of the blame for Palmer's cold spell had been laid to his decision to give up smoking, probably the most public habit-kicking since they put Prince Albert in the can.

"I'm smoking less, in fact, not at all," he said. "And I'm finally enjoying it."

In all, 19 players in the field of 96 hit par 72 or better. Ten

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

COMPUTERS: Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., contended today that federal agencies had wasted more than $150 million in the past five years by leasing — instead of buying — electronic computers.

"The government has over 1,000 electronic computers, of which more than 85 per cent are leased," he said in a statement.

He noted that use of the machines result in large savings but added: "The potential economies should not be dissipated by exorbitant payments to private companies that produce the equipment."

Proxmire said annual rental payments amount to more than $150 million annually. The senator estimated that $100 million a year could be of them were foreigners.

Four shot 70, among them Billy Joe Patton, the witty and exciting amateur player from Morganton, N.C.

Patton, who shot a hole-in-one and missed tying for the title in 1954 by one stroke, made an eagle three when he chipped in from off the green on the 15th hole and came to the last hole needing only a par for a tie for the lead.

He hit his approach badly, finished 50 feet from the cup, and three-putted.

73 FOR HOGAN

Also at 70 were Don January, Gene Littler and Dave Marr. January had an eagle on the par five 13th.

Ben Hogan, two-time winner who at 51 is still rated one of the best shot — makers around, posted a 73 and was in position to make a good showing. Gene Sarazen, who won in 1935, also had a 73.

Sam Snead, the veteran who had been rated a serious threat, skied to a sad 79.

Federal Injunction Bars Pa. Primary Because Of Reapportionment Laws

HARRISBURG (AP) — With the state's primary election less than three weeks away, a special three judge federal court has enjoined state officials from conducting the April 28 primary because it ruled Pennsylvania's legislative reapportionment laws are discriminatory and unconstitutional.

Basically, the three judge panel, sitting in Scranton Thursday, held that the U.S. Constitution is violated by the reapportionment law, which was signed by Gov. Scranton Jan. 9.

In a detailed 68-page opinion, the jurists said the laws set up new legislative districts which favors voters in less populous, rural areas as against those voters in the big urban and suburban counties.

ONLY STATE OFFICIALS

The decision applies only to the election of state senators and representatives. Half the Senate—25 members—and all 200 seats in the House are to be filled at this November's general election.

Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alesandroni said "upon receipt of the order and an analysis of this opinion, a prompt appeal will be taken to the U.S. Supreme Court."

If the Commonwealth does appeal the decision, Pennsylvania will join the ranks of some 12 states whose reapportionment laws have been declared unconstitutional by a federal court.

EXPECTING "STAY"

Such states as Delaware, Michigan and New York were granted stays by the U.S. Supreme Court until the high tribunal has an opportunity to review the reapportionment situation.

Sources close to the reapportionment situation speculate that granting of a stay is likely, particularly because of the time element involved. In the event of a stay of the injunction, the primary would proceed with nomination of senators and representatives, the sources said.

The opinion was written by Judge Albert B. Maris of the Court of Appeals for the Third U.S. Circuit and judges William

PESTICIDES GET AIRING AT HEARING

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pesticides Endrin, Aldrin and Dieldrin were alternately defended and attacked Thursday by witnesses at a Department of Agriculture hearing.

References to recent heavy fish kills in the Lower Mississippi River Basin marked much of the testimony.

The hearing was called on the question of whether the department should cancel or modify the registration of the chemicals, Endrin, Aldrin and Dieldrin.

NOT CAUSE OF KILL
A chemical company research official said Endrin was not the cause of the fish kills, but a public health service official said earlier that evidence obtained in recent laboratory studies

J. Nealon and Michael H. Sheridan of the middle district of Pennsylvania.

SET HEARING DATE

The judges set a hearing for June 1, and ruled they would retain jurisdiction in the matter "until such time as a valid reapportionment of the senators and representatives" is made by the legislature.

The judges' decision has raised numerous questions concerning the election of candidates for the state legislature this year.

In the event that the state appeals the decision, and the Supreme Court does not grant a stay, the general assembly, now in special session, could include the question of reapportionment and revise the law to be consistent with the federal court decision.

In that case, a primary would be held after the June 1 hearing.

Also, under the Pennsylvania election code, candidates can be chosen by their respective state committees.

les pointed to Endrin as the cause.

Several state officials said the chemicals are of great importance to crop production and expressed belief they are not harmful when used properly.

Philip A. Douglas, an official of Sport Fishing Institute, Washington, said Dieldrin is some 20 times "as destructive of fish, game, song birds, beneficial insects, etc., as its predecessor DDT."

EXPERTS DISAGREE

Benard Lorant, research director of Velsicol Chemical Corp., Chicago, said Endrin is not killing the fish.

"Endrin is not the causative factor," he said, "for the reason that Endrin does not cause the observed symptoms."

Dr. Leon W. Wienberger, director of the Water Supply and Pollution Control Division, Public Health Service, said that "positive evidence" obtained in studies indicates Endrin as the cause of the fish mortality.

WOULD BE BLOW

There is no available evidence, he added, which refutes Endrin as the cause.

J. W. Apple of the University of Wisconsin said the removal of Dieldrin for the control of the plum curculio would be a major blow to the production of fruit in Wisconsin. Current use of Aldrin, Dieldrin and Endrin in Wisconsin, he said, is restricted to a relatively few insect-control and pest-control programs.

L. D. Newsom, Baton Rouge, head of the Louisiana State University Entomology Department, said he knows of no data showing that use of the three chemicals is a hazard to health.

SALLY RAND TO BE SEEN, HEARD SUNDAY ON TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Thirty years ago was also a world's year. It was in Chicago and in retrospect two of the attractions stand out: The exhibition of Whistler's famous "Mother," and Sally Rand in her fan dance.

Both have proved more enduring than most fair attractions. After all those years, Miss Rand is still tiny, trim and blonde, still waving her ostrich fans invitingly. But now her professional life revolves largely around carnivals.

"They are terribly important," she explained during a brief visit to New York. "Over 500 shows go out every May and the receipts from them are greater than the combined gates of baseball, football and basketball. And it remains one area of show business that television has hardly touched."

"CARNY" ON SUNDAY

"I took a dry run with carnivals in 1947," she recalled. "I thought I'd better do it quietly. I loved it. Then, the next year, I went out from May to November with the biggest outdoor show in the business."

Since then carnivals have been her life and the carnival

British Labor Party Leading Conservatives

By RAYMOND E. PALMER

LONDON (AP)—Britain's Labor party looked confidently today to a national victory over the Conservatives this fall as returns from 22 county elections showed steady Labor gains.

With an average increase of 7 per cent in the voting Thursday, the Labor party appeared certain to control the Greater London Council, the capital's 100-seat municipal governing body. The results from 23 of London's 32 boroughs gave Labor 50 seats and the Conservatives only 18.

Labor also turned in an impressive performance in 21 counties outside of London, capturing marginal Lancashire, often a barometer of the nation's mood, and Northumberland, another key area.

PREDICTS VICTORY

George Brown, Deputy Labor party leader, commented:

"These gains are going to represent a parliamentary swing-over, almost a landslide, I would say."

At this voting rate, he added, Labor would win a majority of 90 in the next House of Commons.

The results buoyed Labor's national hopes after its disappointment with Conservative Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home's announcement Thursday night that he would defer parliamentary elections until fall.

But Harold Wilson, Labor party leader, said a fall date would only mean a Labor victory in October rather than in slang has become her language. On Sunday, when NBC presents "Carny," a news special about the billion-dollar-a-year branch of show business, Miss Rand will be narrator and guide.

Sally, born Helen Beck in Missouri, arrived in Hollywood in the predepression years and was named a Wampas baby star. When bad times struck and movie parts were scarce, she built her act—daring in those days—around her long training in ballet. She struck it rich and famous.

3-BEDROOM HOUSE in

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even in death, before his burial, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur remains a hinge of controversy. The many threads of his complicated life, and his feelings of being conspired against, will be a long time in the unraveling.

Two newspapermen have just tried their hand at it. Jim Lucas of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers and Bob Considine of the Hearst Headline Service. This week both released interviews they had with him 10 years ago but promised not to publish until he died.

Promptly Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, long-time friend and aide of MacArthur, branded the Lucas interview "fictional nonsense." He didn't mention Considine. The Lucas piece had more sting. It painted MacArthur as bitterly critical of some of his famous contemporaries, presidents and generals.

HIS BIOGRAPHY

Whitney is no impartial observer. He wrote a book—"MacArthur His Rendezvous with History"—which is a justification and glorification of the famous general. Sometimes it's hard to tell who's talking — MacArthur or Whitney.

Lucas listed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. George C. Marshall, secretary of defense during the Korean War, as critical targets of MacArthur.

Whitney, in denying the accuracy of the Lucas interview, didn't mention Marshall, but of the others, including Eisenhower, he said.

"The general never spoke in any but the highest terms of such officers and held them all in the warmest affection."

CONFLICTING REPORTS

Lucas quoted MacArthur on Eisenhower as "once a man of integrity" (Considine quoted MacArthur on Eisenhower as "naive but honest") and on Marshall as "an errand boy."

Although Whitney indicates MacArthur spoke only in the highest terms of Eisenhower, Marquis Childs, another newspaperman, in his book—"Eisenhower Captive Hero"—says MacArthur called him "the apotheosis of mediocrity" and a biographer of MacArthur, Clark Lee, says the general referred to Eisenhower as a "clerk."

OLD ENMITY

As for Marshall—in 1956 MacArthur publicly stated that Marshall, and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in the Korean War when MacArthur was fired from command by President Harry S. Truman, were "personally hostile to me" and that Marshall's "enmity was an old one."

Lucas said MacArthur frequently expressed bitterness when he spoke of Truman but quoted the general: "The little bastard honestly believes he is a patriot."

Whitney said: "The general's comments regarding Mr. Truman were always couched in terms of moderation and dignity and he never used the word 'bastard' in describing him or anyone else."

ASEAILED TRUMAN

But MacArthur on the subject of Truman wasn't exactly restrained in 1956—two years after the Lucas-Considine interviews—when the former president, in the second volume of his memoirs, explained firing MacArthur. MacArthur called Truman "vengeful" and didn't leave much doubt about what he thought of his truthfulness.

He described Truman's account of his firing as a "labyrinth of fancy and fiction."

Whitney himself wasn't very laudatory about Truman. In his book he suggested Truman called on MacArthur to meet him at Wake Island—in October 1950, one month before the congressional elections—for political reasons and tried "to drape the mantle of MacArthur" around his shoulders.

And in the Whitney book even President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his relations with MacArthur came off second best. Whitney said MacArthur was deliberately deceived about getting reinforcements when the Japanese had him pinned down on Corregidor in World War II, reinforcements which never arrived.

Whitney called this one of the "cruellest deceptions of the war" and said: "Certainly President Roosevelt more than anyone else, with the possible exception of Gen. Marshall, knew who was the deceiver and who the deceived."

Trumbull Higgins, who has been a professor at the War College, in his book—"Korea and The Fall of MacArthur"—says when the general didn't get the reinforcements he looked on Roosevelt as his "arch-foe." He adds that Roosevelt was "incapable of responding as MacArthur desired."

Doctor Progresses To 1939 Prediction

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — In 1939, when he was 70, Dr. Rush E. Castelaw told an interviewer:

"Worry shortens life. People with adequate annuities outlive those with financial worry. A man with a chronic ailment is apt to take good care of himself. I have an ample annuity, and I have a chronic ailment. I should live to be a hundred."

Dr. Castelaw turned 95 Thursday and said he couldn't see anything remarkable about it. He's the only survivor of the class of 1887 at Greenfield (Ill.) High School and came to Kansas City in 1888.

23 ARE HELD IN RACE WAR

HARRISBURG (AP) — Harrisburg police took into custody Thursday 23 youths who they said were intent on starting a "race war" in this capital city.

Police Chief C. Preston Price said his force also confiscated a "small arsenal of deadly weapons" found in five cars.

Police said the youths apparently were bent upon avenging a stabbing last Friday night at a dance at Camp Hill, across the Susquehanna River from Harrisburg.

In the fracas, Samuel Payne, an 18-year-old Negro, is accused of stabbing Thomas Gaughen, a 17-year-old white boy.

"GET EVEN"

Gaughen is hospitalized in satisfactory condition. Sgt. Norvil C. Ulrich, a juvenile specialist, said several of the youths admitted they came to Harrisburg to "get even with" the Negroes.

Four of the youths were over 17 and charged with disorderly conduct.

Jailed in lieu of $50 bail were Richard L. Roose, 20; Norman E. Keck, 18; Dennis A. Darr, 18; and Terence E. Lehrman, 18, all of Mechanicsburg.

The juveniles were returned to the custody of their parents and ordered to appear at city hall today.

Job Retraining Program Approved

HARRISBURG (AP) — Another job retraining program for Pennsylvania has been approved by the federal government under the Federal Manpower Development and Training Act.

The state Labor and Industry Department said Thursday the newest course is designed to train 15 persons in Northeastern Pennsylvania as cooks.

This brings to 166 the number of courses approved for the state under the federal act, the department said.

The course is to be held "soon" in the cafeteria of Old Forge High School, the department said.

The overall project will cost $20,480, $11,550 of which will be used for trainees' allowance.

SAY SCRANTON STAND GIVES BACKERS HELP

By JACK LYNCH
Associated Press Writer

HARRISBURG (AP) — Evidence mounted today that backers of movements to draft Gov. Scranton for the Republican presidential nomination may be stimulated rather than retarded by his renewed avowal of disinterest.

Several leaders of separate organizations set up to draft Scranton said Thursday they admired the governor's "forthright" stand but said they would work with intensified vigor in his behalf.

Scranton told a jammed news conference Thursday he wants to make it "crystal clear" to his supporters that he is not a candidate and would accept the nomination only under an unengineered draft that came from the heart of the people.

"MORE ATTRACTIVE"

He said his position is "immutable" and that he will take no responsibility for the time, effort and money being expended by the growing number of supporters.

Many of the drive leaders indicated they felt the governor's position was one of "statesmanship," that he is more attractive than ever.

But George I. Bloom, secretary of the Commonwealth and immediate past chairman of the Pennsylvania Republican State Committee, offered a more practical view.

On balance, he said, Scranton's statement, "did him no harm, nor did it do him any particular good" as a presidential prospect.

Bloom said he personally will continue to espouse Scranton's candidacy, despite the governor's request that supporters cease-and-desist, adding:

"I think he would be a hell of a candidate, a rallying force around which Republicans can gather if there is a lot of bitterness at the convention (San Francisco, July 13).

"Bill hasn't offended any of the candidates and he could be the one to unite the party."

Bloom said he tried to talk the governor out of making the statement, but he added, "It couldn't be done because the governor is sincere in his beliefs."

SEMINARIANS SING APRIL 19

A concert by the 32-voice Mount St. Mary's Seminary Schola Cantorum will feature the closing of the three-day liturgical conference at Blessed Sacrament Church, Alexandria, Va., on Sunday, April 19, at 3:30 p.m. The Emmitsburg seminarians are directed by Rev. Dr. David W. Shaum, professor of music.

The seminarians will sing the following numbers: "Let Their Celestial Concerts All Unite" from Handel's "Samson"; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" from Bach's Cantata No. 147; "Sicut Locutus Est" from Bach's "Magnificat"; "Inveni David" by Aichinger; "Singers Sing and Trumpets Play," by Smit; "Here Is Thy Footstool," Creston; "April Is My Mistress' Face," Morley; "Come Again, Sweet Love," Dowland; "Dry Bones," arranged by Gearhart.

Rev. James Noto, a 1963 graduate of Mount St. Mary's Seminary, is in charge of the liturgical conference. Rev. Martin T. Quinn, is pastor of the church. Stuart T. Wilson will be the organist.

Defendant Sues County Officials

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Homer Lee Castleberry, 46, of McAlester, Okla., filed a suit for $50,000 damages in District Court Thursday against Sheriff Vernon L. Robinson, the Shawnee County Commissioners and the sheriff's bonding agency.

During 37 days in jail, Castleberry alleges, he was denied the right of talking to an attorney and of making bail.

He finally was arraigned March 12 on charges of burglary and larceny, forgery and uttering, and was released under $1,000 bond.

Sheriff Robinson said there apparently was a slip-up in paper work at the jail and nobody realized Castleberry hadn't been arraigned.

Film Daily Names "Tom Jones" Best

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Artists motion picture version of Henry Fielding's novel, "Tom Jones" was chosen Thursday as the best picture of 1963 in the annual polling by the Film Daily.

The picture was 36 votes ahead of its nearest competitor, "Hud," a Paramount production.

The selections are made by motion picture critics throughout the country.

Roger J. Keefer Serves Littlestown As Secretary For Three Decades

SERVES TOWN IN MANY MORE ASSIGNMENTS

Roger J. Keefer, Littlestown borough secretary for more than 30 years, finds the borough's business increasing with almost every passing year — but he finds also that as secretary today he doesn't have to do some of the things that became the chores of the town's earliest officials.

Keefer, who recently was honored by the state Association of Boroughs for his long and valued service to the community, today also handles such diverse activities as: Part time operator of the town's communications center with its radio contact with police and firemen — and the rest of the county if need be and manager of the town's water and sewer systems.

AMATEUR HISTORIAN

But he does not have such chores as raising money to pay for volunteers for the Union Army — which was one of the first duties of the town 100 years ago when it became a borough.

Nor does he have to worry about people driving through town at "faster than an ordinary trot" which was one of the ordinances set up at a meeting of the second town council 90 years ago. Keefer, whose interest in the community is not only as a secretary, but he is an amateur historian, has long been a student of the early minutes of the borough council. Among the historic facts he has uncovered are the following:

100 YEARS OLD

Littlestown's first borough council was organized and sworn into office on the evening of September 10, 1864. Members were George Stonesifer, David Schwartz, John Spangler Sr., Noah P. Weikert and Dr. J. S.

Roger J. Keefer, Littlestown borough secretary-manager, is shown engaged in one of the functions of the borough in which he frequently participates. A communications center "telephone and radio answering service" has been set up in the "Borough Room" in the Community Center for instant communication by radio or telephone with police, firemen and the public and, if need be, the county. Someone is on duty constantly at the center and in the absence of others Keefer generally takes over. (Lane Studio photo)

Kemp. William S. Crouse was the first burgess. David Schwartz was elected treasurer and Dr. J. S. Kemp was named secretary.

The first official act of council was to borrow "the sum of two thousand dollars for the purpose of aiding in procuring volunteers to fill the quota of said Borough." Council also approved the purchase of two books for the use of the secretary and the treasurer.

On March 25, 1865, members of the second council were "duly sworn according to law," and certificates of affidavits of office were filed: R. S. Seiss,

M.D., burgess; David Schwartz, Joseph Barker, Frederick Bittlinger and Samuel Weikert. In the organization process, Weikert was named secretary, Schwartz was treasurer, and Daniel Crouse was elected second burgess "to act and perform like powers and duties as the principal corporate officer in his absence."

ADOPT BYLAWS

A series of resolutions relative to regulations and bylaws were suggested and read, but held over until the next meeting for consideration and action.

The resolutions and bylaws were adopted at the March 29 meeting and were:

1. RESOLVED, That inasmuch as the Council of every Borough within the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall have full power to make such bylaws and regulations as are necessary for the health, cleanliness and good order and government of the Borough: — therefore be it remembered that the following are the regulations and bylaws of the "Borough of Littlestown."

RESTRICT ANIMALS

2. RESOLVED, That no horses, cattle, sheep, swine, geese or any other animals be permitted to run at large within the limits of the corporation, under the penalty of paying two dollars with costs, for the use of the Borough.

3. RESOLVED, That any person or persons putting or leaving any obstacle in the highways or alleys, such as wagons or vehicles of any kind or other obstructions, for a period of more than twenty-four hours shall forfeit and pay the sum of one dollar and costs for each and every offense, for the use of the Borough.

4. RESOLVED, That all nuisances or offensive matter, whether in the highways or in public or private ground, shall be removed whenever required by the occupier or owner of such grounds, in default of which the corporation may cause the same to be done and collect the costs thereof from such owner or occupier.

NOXIOUS BUSINESS

5. RESOLVED, That within the borough limits there shall be no carrying on of any trade, manufacture or business which may be noxious, dangerous or offensive to the inhabitants, excepting within prescribed limits.

6. RESOLVED, That a tax of one half dollar be levied on the owner or owners of each and every dog, a tax of two dollars be levied on the owner or owners of each and every bitch, to be collected annually for the use of the Borough.

7. RESOLVED, That there be no fist-fighting or fighting of any kind whatsoever within the limits of this borough under a penalty of five dollars each, for each and every offense with costs for the use of the Borough.

TWO MILL TAX

8. RESOLVED, That a tax of two mills on a dollar on the valuation assessed for county purposes, as provided by law, be collected annually for borough purposes.

9. RESOLVED, That any person or persons riding or driving on or over pavements, or leaving a wagon or vehicle of any kind stand upon either of the crossings within the corporation, shall on conviction thereof forfeit and pay the sum of one dollar with costs for each and every such offense for the use of the Borough.

10. RESOLVED, That any person or persons found riding or driving through the public highways within the corporation, faster than an ordinary trot, shall on conviction thereof forfeit and pay the sum of two dollars with costs for each and every such offense.

MUST BEHAVE

11. RESOLVED, That any person or persons guilty of debauchery and drunkenness, exhibiting himself or herself as the case may be, in the streets within the corporation shall be arrested and confined in the lock-up house for a period not exceeding forty-eight hours.

13. RESOLVED, That any person or persons found guilty of riotous or disorderly conduct in the streets, or any where within the limits of the corporation shall be liable to the payment of two dollars fine for each and every such offense with costs for the use of the borough.

14. RESOLVED, That any person or persons found guilty of calumny or blasphemy or any tumultuous conduct on the streets or anywhere within the limits of the corporation shall be liable to a fine of two dollars for each and every such offense.

HITCHING HORSES

15. RESOLVED, That any person or persons hitching horses or mules to posts or trees along the foot walks are liable to payment of all damages thus incurred.

16. RESOLVED, That any person or persons loitering about the streets within the limits of the corporation, as having no business, as a vagrant, idle wanderer or vagabond shall be arrested and confined in the lock-up house for a period not exceeding forty-eight hours.

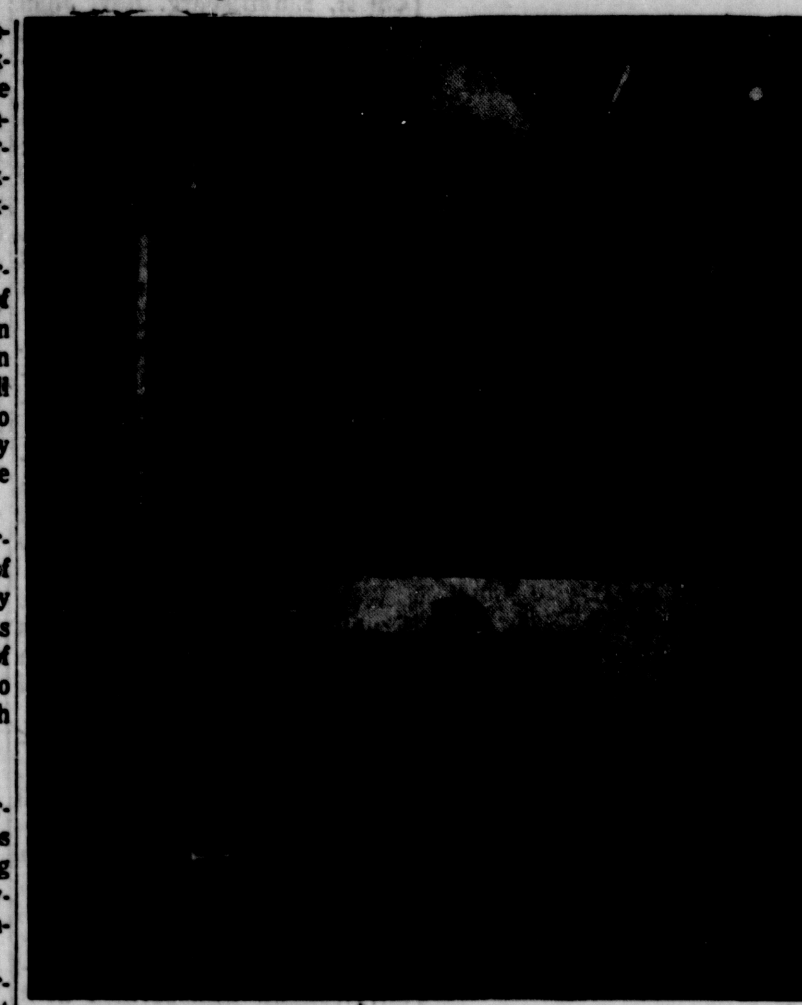

17. RESOLVED, That any person or persons trespassing on their neighbors' property within the limits of the corporation by throwing or causing to be thrown thereon any nuisance or offensive matter whatsoever, on conviction thereof shall forfeit and pay a fine of five dollars with costs for each and every such offense.

USE OF FIREARMS

18. RESOLVED, That the firing or discharging of pistols, guns or firearms of any kind, shooting crackers, or target shooting within the limits of the corporation is strictly prohibited under a penalty of one dollar for each and every such offense.

19. RESOLVED, That any person or persons having a cellar door or more fronting on the pavement shall be liable for all damages incurred, by leaving it open after night-fall, by persons falling therein or otherwise.

20. RESOLVED, That there be no unnecessary exposure of fireworks or inflammable or dangerous

Littlestown's Alpha Fire Co. publicly acknowledges its loss when a member dies. Shown above is the metal frame bearing the words "Alpha Fire Co. No. 1. In Memory of Our Members." It is on the wall of the fire house. The specially designed notice board was donated to the firemen by their Ladies' Auxiliary. The glass cover over the central section can be unlocked to add other names of deceased firemen. The names remain for at least a 30-day period. ous articles of any kind except within the limits of the corporation under the penalty of fifty cents fine, for each and every offense, in default of payment to be confined in the lock-up house for a period not exceeding forty-eight hours.

The council adjourned to meet Saturday evening, April 1, 1965. (Signed, R. S. Seiss, acting for Samuel Weikert, Sec'y.)

Women's Clubs To Meet Wednesday

The annual spring meeting of the Adams County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held next Wednesday, April 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the Jaycee room at the Community Center, Littlestown.

There will be election and installation of county federation officers. Mrs. A. Bruce Dennison, Altoona, Pa., vice president of the South Central District will be

State Award For Ocker-Snyder Post

Ocker-Snyder Post 321, American Legion, is the recipient of a congratulatory letter from the Pennsylvania Department Commander of the American Legion for achieving 100 per cent membership in 1964. Commander William T. Gingrow will receive a pin and Claude Snyder of the membership committee, a cap patch.

A $5 donation was made at the post meeting to the Cancer Society. A final report was given on the recent Better Homes and Gardens Show sponsored by the Legionnaires. Elmer W. M. Dutera and Beaven Hanlon, cochairmen, thanked the post membership for their assistance with the fund-raising project. A moment of silence was observed in tribute to the late General Douglas MacArthur.

Refreshments for the next regular meeting on Thursday, April 23, will be in charge of George C. Dehoff and James Fager.

Donations Voted

By Legion Women

Donations were voted at the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, held at the post home, E. King St., on Wednesday evening, April 8. The unit donated the following: $10 to the "Annual" auxiliary publication; $5 to Council Day; $2.50 to the Cancer Fund; $1 to the directors' program for Mrs. Bishop Comory.

Mrs. Ralph Conover gave a report on a Pan-American country. Persons wishing to borrow hospital equipment should contact Mrs. James W. Fager, community service chairman. Mrs. Norman R. Seitz, president, presided.

The annual mother and daughter covered-dish supper will be held in connection with the next meeting on Wednesday, May 13, 6:30 p.m., at the post home. Each member is asked to bring a covered-dish and the meat will be furnished.

Sermon For The Week

By REV. G. FLINCHBAUGH
Pastor, Redeemer's UCC

"THE GOOD RAIN"
Texts: Acts 14:17; Psalms 147:7-8.
An unknown writer has said: "Rain that falls in springtime is like the handclasp of a friend." The author of the Book of Acts says, "God hath shown kindnesses to you; He has sent you rain from heaven and fruitful seasons, giving you food and happiness to your hearts' content." The Psalmist urged each of us to "sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving, who prepares the rain for the earth." It would seem that rain is one thing in the country, and quite another in the town. It is in town, surely, that most of the grumbling is done. "God sent a rain today To show how miracles are made. The trees and grasses looked and listened, The hills did likewise: Only man put up his umbrella—and grumbled." A NEW LIFE There is no denying that rain can be very unpleasant in the town: Wet pavements, dripping umbrellas, a grey mantle of sky above tall buildings, with motor wheels slushing through puddles. It is hard for townspeople to lift up a song for growing things that are benefiting. They are so taken up with the unpleasant necessity of getting about, and with ruined social engagements. The countryman thinks in terms of new life. "Only" a countryman could write of the rain falling "quietly, luxuriously."

The Psalmist lived in a country where rain was especially important. The first rains softened the iron-bound earth, baked by the fierce summer heat. The comparatively fine intervals which followed gave him time to put in his seed; and the second showers watered it. The Bible is a book of people of the out-of-doors, aware of the revolving seasons, and the close relationship between the Creator and their coveted crops. Where possible, they conserved the precious rain. And no single discovery of man has proved more valuable to life than the power to dig ditches, and turn the precious gift of heaven into greenening acreage. But all that depends primarily upon the good God who gave the "former" and "latter" rains. No wonder the Psalmist raised His song of thanksgiving with the words, "sing unto the Lord with Thanksgiving, who prepare the rain for the earth."

Depressing sight, isn't it? And what is it we say when something old, familiar, once-cherished, once-useful has succumbed to the ravages of time? It served its purpose! Could all the churches in our town someday look like this? They could! Maybe they will...

if they have served their purpose... if we don't need them anymore! Even if you haven't been getting to church of late, I think you'll protest that we DO need our churches. We need the truth they teach — the faith they instill — the hope they inspire — the God-given strength with which they undergird our life. This is the very point: We ALL need our churches. And to bring ALL of us to realize and fulfill our need... That is their purpose!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

MacArthur's Plan To Defeat Reds In Korea And Seal Off China Revealed In 2 Interviews; Charge Conspiracy

By LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two 10-year-old interviews with Douglas MacArthur published as the general lay in state have revived memories of the bitter Korean War dispute which ended his military career.

The two interviews were given in January 1954 to Bob Considine of Hearst Headline Service and to James G. Lucas of Scripps - Howard newspapers, and were withheld until MacArthur's death. They were published in copyrighted stories Wednesday.

In a memo on the interview, Lucas quoted the famed old warrior as blaming British "perfidy" and Washington "harassment and interference" for failure to crush the Communists in Korea.

CHARGE CONSPIRACY
According to the Lucas story, MacArthur became convinced he was the victim of a conspiracy in which the State Department was showing his communications with Washington to the British, who in turn relayed them to the Chinese Reds.

A British Embassy spokesman denied the charge, saying: "British Commonwealth troops were serving in Korea at the time and it is unthinkable that the British government would endanger the lives of their own troops by passing information to the Communist Chinese as alleged."

DENY CHARGE

Earl Atlee, Britain's prime minister at the time of the Korean War, said in London today the accusations of British treachery were "complete nonsense and perfectly ridiculous."

Atlee recalled that he had gone to Washington in 1950 "because there seemed to be a danger of extending a war from Korea to an all-out war between America and China."

He said he wanted to avoid a war against the Chinese in China because "it would have been fighting with the wrong enemy at the wrong time. It would have left Russia's hand quite free if America was bogged down in China."

A State Department spokesman declined comment "on this purported statement" by MacArthur "at any time and particularly at this time."

WANTED CHINESE

Considine said MacArthur told him "he proposed to win a decisive victory in Korea by the employment of 500,000 Nationalist Chinese, an atomic attack on the enemy's air and supply bases in Manchuria, and the spreading of a huge belt of radioactive cobalt across the northern frontier of that battle scarred land."

Considine quoted MacArthur as saying:

"Of all the campaigns of my life the one I felt most sure of was the one I was deprived of waging. I could have won the war in Korea, in a maximum of 10 days, with considerably fewer casualties than were suffered in the so-called truce period."

USE ATOMIC BOMBS

"The enemy's air (power) would first have been taken out. I would have dropped between 30 to 50 atomic bombs on his air bases and other depots strung across the neck of Manchuria."

The Hearst writer also quoted MacArthur as saying he almost convinced President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower on Dec. 17, 1952, to adopt an undisclosed plan by MacArthur to end the cold war but was frustrated by the late John Foster Dulles who was to become Eisenhower's secretary of state.

GRUDGING RESPECT

Although it was former President Harry S. Truman who ended his military career in a dispute over the Korean War, the Scripps-Howard story said MacArthur paid grudging respect to Truman as "a man of raw courage and guts. The little bastard honestly believes he is a patriot."

A spokesman for Truman said Wednesday the former president would make no rebuttal and was sticking to his praise of MacArthur, upon his death, as "one of the great military men in our history."

Truman relieved MacArthur of his Korea command on April 9, 1951, in an order which climaxed a series of rows between the general and Washington headquarters. After Peking sent in troops, MacArthur proposed expanding the military effort to Red China's "coastal areas and interior bases." Truman and U.N. allies favored limiting the campaign in Korea.

SEAL OFF CHINA

The Lucas story quoted MacArthur as saying "those fools in Washington" prevented his winning the Korean War with his plan for bringing in Nationalist Chinese troops and sowing a 5-mile-wide belt of radioactive cobalt along the Yalu River after defeating the Red Chinese to permanently seal China off from Korea.

MacArthur reportedly said the United States had cobalt "in abundance" as a by-product — presumably from atomic weapons manufacture — and the radioactive belt would make it suicidal for an army to try to cross it.

BRITISH "BETRAYAL"

The story said MacArthur was told of British "betrayal" by a field commander, Lt. Gen. Walton Walker, but "said he became convinced he was the victim of a conspiracy" only after he had ordered Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer to bomb the Yalu River bridges after the Chinese intervened.

Just as the bombers were about to take off four hours later, MacArthur was quoted as saying, his order was "peremptorily" countermanded by Gen. George C. Marshall, then secretary of defense.

Truman has written in his memoirs that he quickly upon receiving a message from Stratemeyer that MacArthur had ordered bombing of a Yalu bridge connecting Korea with Manchuria, the President conferred with Secretary of State Dean Acheson. Acheson in turn had checked with various State and Defense Department officials, including Dean Rusk, then assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. (Acheson declined comment on the Lucas story.)

HAD COMMITMENT

Truman said Rusk, now secretary of state, had "pointed out that we had a commitment with the British not to take action which might involve attacks on the Manchurian side of the river without consultation with them."

So only an hour and 20 minutes before the planes were to take off, Truman said, a message was sent to MacArthur banning all bombing of targets within five miles of the Manchurian border until further orders. MacArthur obeyed but repudiated the limitations would have "disastrous effect."

Grant From FHA Provided Water And Heat For Home

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Home Economist
A WARM HOUSE, GOOD WATER TO DRINK

A 65-year-old widow living in eastern Kentucky's Russell County now has a safe, warm house and good drinking water.

Last winter she had neither. During the cold winter months of 1962-63, water froze inside her house within a few feet of the fireplace, the main source of heat.

House repairs and an indoor water system were made possible for this elderly woman through a grant from the Farmers Home Administration of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Nine hundred dollars was all she needed to make her home livable and safe.

The money went to cover up broken windows in the attic, replace broken sash on two windows, put plastic covering over windows, and to drill a well, install an electric pump and repair the porch floor.

MANY SMALL GRANTS

In 1963, Farmers Home Administration made about $1.6 million in small grants to help families without the ability to repay make essential house repairs. The local office is located on the second floor of the Adams Electric Cooperative building in Gettysburg and is directed by Daniel Paddock.

Mohair looped knit fabric, airy and lightweight, continues to be popular.

Available in a wide range of soft and gay colors, mohair looped knit fabric is luxurious in appearance. Described as having a "souffle look," the fabric gets its airy appearance during the knitting process when the loose loops are brought through the surface on the right side.

SENSITIVE TO SHRINKAGE

A mohair knitted fabric is sensitive to shrinkage. To prevent possible damage, the manufacturer's label states "dry-clean only — do not steam press or sponge." If nap becomes flat or crushed from wearing, brush it upward with your hand. If further pressing is needed, press fabric on the wrong side, with the iron set at its lowest temperature.

Although mohair is a luxury fabric, it doesn't call for special handling during sewing. Use matching mercerized thread for stitching. Set the machine for 12 to 15 stitches to the inch.

It's advisable to staystitch a lightweight lining to the mohair fabric to prevent stretching. Lightweight lining fabrics won't change the texture of the outer fabric.

Interest rate tells only part of the story when it comes to figuring the cost of credit. It's the dollar cost that determines whether you can afford to use a certain amount of credit.

Interest rate, length of time credit is used, and amount of credit used determines the dollar cost. Increase any one of these and you increase the dollar cost of credit.

If you choose to spread repayment over a 6-month period instead of paying cash, a $2 charge may be added to the cost of a $20 purchase. Under these conditions the true interest rate is about 40 per cent a year.

If payments were spread over a 12-month period, the dollar cost would be $4 instead of $2. Even so, the interest rate would still be about 40 per cent a year. Using credit for a longer period of time increases the dollar cost of credit, even though the interest rate remains the same.

CONSIDER STYLE

Shift dresses are expected to retain their popularity. Comfortable to wear, easy to sew, easy to fit, and flattering to many figure types, the shift is sure to please.

Even though the shift is a "relaxed fashion" it should fit properly. If you plan to make a shift, choose the pattern carefully. Consider design lines, such as neckline, length of sleeve, and shape of collar in relation to your figure.

Beauty of the shift is in its subtle fit. A dress that's too loose or too tight loses fashion impact. To insure proper fit, buy the correct size pattern for your measurements.

You can make shifts from a variety of fabrics, such as terry cloth for casual wear, and elegant silk or fine woolsens for dress-up occasions. No matter what the fabric, to have an attractive looking garment the finished length must balance your silhouette and be attractive to you.

HARRISBURG (AP) — State Treasurer Grace M. Sloan is the newly named vice chairman of a national steering committee which will study the use of tax-exempt municipal bonds for financing private industrial plants. The committee, appointed Wednesday, is composed of auditors, controllers and treasurers from the 50 states.

The University of Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor can seat 100,000 spectators, more than any other college stadium.

A Lovelier You

SORCERY OF FRAGRANCE.
Think of a rose without a scent. Would you find it perfect? Now picture a lovely woman, not blessed with an aura of fragrance.

Would she not seem incomplete? There is a mystique in fragrance. As if by magic, it brings the whole personality into focus—one's appearance, fashions and individuality.

Fragrance is highly personal. Your preference — the fragrances you like — is the major clue to successful selection. There are seven categories from which to choose:

- Single Florals—These capture the scent of one flower, from the shy violet to the heady gardenia.
- Floral Bouquets — Several blossoms, intricately blended with such exotics as musk to create a bodied attar.
- Spicy Blends—Compounds of spices, like clove and ginger, these aromas are zesty with a floral undertone.
- Woody Blends—Very crisp, with the aromatic notes of sandalwood, rosewood, moss and fern.
- Fruity Blends—Peaches, apricots, oranges or lemons make these mellow or brisk.
- Orientals—Musk and mysterious, such are the sophisticated of perfumery.
- Modern Blends—Formulated of 20th Century synthetics, over 3,000 of them, the end result is an exhilarating floral, spice or a new and indefinable aroma.

Now what's your preference? Before you buy, try! Your skin's chemistry and a perfume's just might not be attuned to the magic you're after.

For 50 ways to look lovelier, send for my leaflet, "INSTANT BEAUTY TIPS." It shows you how to overcome such annoyances as

Now—Kelvinator has the answer for growing families

The new Trimwall gives them twice the storage space in the same floor space as their present refrigerator—and the Trimwall keeps their food truly safe at the lowest "No-Frost" operating cost. As your family grows, your food needs grow. But your kitchen doesn't. That's why Kelvinator designed the Trimwall to give you 17 cubic feet of storage in the same floor space your old 8-cubic-foot refrigerator occupied before. And that's just the start of the advances in this remarkable refrigerator. You never have to defrost the refrigerator or the freezer.

You get all this convenience for operating costs that are far below other similar-sized frostless refrigerators. And Kelvinator's exclusive new Trimwall construction provides safer storage temperatures and makes the cabinet stronger and more dent-resistant. Come see this remarkable new advance!

Your best buy... Kelvinator 50th Anniversary Value! You get outstanding quality, dependability and economy of operation in new Kelvinator appliances. They are the result of 50 years of engineering leadership in home appliances, including the first successful home refrigerator. Come see them now!

TRIMWALL

First basic advance in refrigerator cabinets in 50 years!

Trimwall bonds inside wall, miracle foam insulation and outside wall into a single, solid unit!

You get twice the space inside, in the same floor space, as Kelvinators built 10 years ago!

Fresh-food compartment is chip-proof, shockproof, acid-resistant—without a single crack or crevice to clean!

Operating costs for Kelvinator "No-Frost," which already were the lowest, are now 20% lower, based on comparable capacities!

Temperatures in both refrigerator and freezer are always just right, regardless of room temperatures!

Metropolitan Opera To Honor Shakespeare At World's Fair

NEW YORK (AP) — The Metropolitan Opera will be making a three-way parley of William Shakespeare, Giuseppe Verdi and the New York World's Fair, for two weeks starting April 27.

The Met will interrupt its annual spring tour to return to its home on Broadway at 39th St. for 16 performances intended primarily for visitors to the fair.

In honor of the Shakespeare quadricentennial, three of the operas will be Verdi works on Shakespearean themes — "Falstaff," "Macbeth" and "Otello."

As the "gala season" will include two performances each of five Verdi operas — the others are "Aida" and "Il Trovatore" — it will serve also to commemorate the 150th anniversary of Verdi's birth, the actual date of which was last October 19.

The Met has lined up practically all of its top attractions and brightest stars for this special event.

It is presenting three of the four new productions which it introduced in the season just ending — "Falstaff," "Aida" and Massenet's "Manon." And two others, "Otello" and "La Sonnambula," were given new productions last season.

SMASH HIT

On "opening night," Monday the 27th, there will be the Met's best bet for a smash hit, "Falstaff," whose new presentation won almost universal acclaim this season.

There are two principal reasons for this success, one being conductor Leonard Bernstein, the Philharmonic's music director. This is the first opera Bernstein had done at the Met, and he plays no small share in giving the Verdi score the vitality which it deserves.

The other is Franco Zeffirelli, the 40-year-old Florentine who staged this opera several times in Europe and then came over to handle the staging, scenes and costumes here, with excellent results.

CAST GOOD
The cast is good too. Anselmo Colzani and Fernando Corena have been alternating in the title role. Colzani will sing it on the 27th and Corena will take over when the opera is repeated on Monday, May 4. The ladies are all splendid — Gabriella Tucci, Regina Resnik, Rosalind Elias and Judith Raskin.

Birgit Nilsson will be the main attraction for the "Macbeth" on the 28th, with Carlo Bergonzi, Cornell MacNeil and Giorgio Tozzi. Miss Nilsson also is scheduled for the repeat on May 6, singing with Barry Morell, Jerome Hines and MacNeil. Mozart's "Don Giovanni," with Leontyne Price, Lisa Della Casa, Roberta Peters, Cesare Siepi, Nicolai Gedda and Corena, will be sung on the 29th, and repeated on Sunday afternoon, May 10, with Miss Price and virtually the same cast.

OPERA TO BE GIVEN TWICE
Word has been getting around about James McCracken's performance in the title role of "Otello" since last season and with Renata Tebaldi singing opposite him, the opera will be given on the 30th and on Saturday afternoon, May 9. Others in the cast include Mignon Dunn and Robert Merrill.

The first performance of "Aida," on May 1, will feature Miss Nilsson and Franco Corelli. The second, on May 7, will have Miss Price and Carlo Bergonzi. In both performances, the cast will include George London and Ezio Flagello.

Miss Price, Irene Dalis and Richard Tucker will perform in the "Il Trovatore" of Saturday afternoon, May 2, but when the opera is repeated on Friday, May 8, Miss Resnik and Corelli will be in the cast.

SINGLE SHOW

Linda Aughinbaugh appears as "The Photogenic Lady in a Hat" as part of a Trunked clypeo number to be presented in Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Grades spring musical at the Junior High School here tonight at 7:30.

Frank Guarrera, Morell and Tozzi, will be given on Saturday night, May 2.

There will be some juggling of the case in the two performances of "La Sonnambula," on Sunday, May 3, and Saturday night, May 9, but the star performer on both occasions will be, quite naturally, Joan Sutherland.

The customary combination of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" will be heard on Tuesday, May 5, with Eileen Farrell, Tucker, Corelli and Colzani.

fiberglass panel installation for more fun in outdoor living can be just as important as the weight and configuration of the material.

Each color has its individual characteristics and should be evaluated with extreme care, depending on where the homeowner lives and where the installation will be in relation to the home.

In warm, sunny and bright areas, colors such as canary, dusty peach, snow, shamrock and tangerine would be best on patio, carport or porch roofs. These colors filter out a major portion of the sun's heat, allowing only 20-36 per cent to pass through while retaining maximum light transmission.

For temperate, milder areas, turquoise, emerald, coral, green or yellow colors would be suitable. These colors have heat transmission values ranging from 37-68 per cent and transmit as high as 64 per cent of the light.

FINAL PLEAS ARE MADE AT REIS TRIAL

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — "Don't separate a mother from her children," pleaded Defense Attorney Robert Simone in the Lillian Reis case.

Simone made the statement after the prosecution had said, "Everyone of the facts in the Robert Poulson statement is true... the Poulson evidence is the most damaging in this case."

For well shaded areas around the home, jade and clear colors should be used, as heat would not be a serious problem. These colors transmit 61-68 per cent of the heat and allow up to 88 per cent of the available light to come through.

Regardless of the color chosen or required, proper ventilation techniques must be employed for maximum benefit of any installation. If these are not adhered to, no patio or porch will be comfortable irrespective of the color used.

Literature containing complete information about color selection and proper ventilation techniques is available free of charge. Write Filon Corp., Dept. SC, 333 N. Van Ness Ave., Hawthorne, California.

This is what the jury heard Thursday as lawyers for the prosecution and the defense wrapped up their cases in the burglary trial of Miss Reis, charged with masterminding the August, 1959, burglary in the home of Pottsville coal operator John B. Rich.

CHARGE ON MONDAY
Judge Charles W. Staudenmeier of the Schuylkill County Court, said he will charge the jury on Monday. He said the charge will be quite lengthy, and probably will take all day.

Miss Reis broke into sobs at the mention of the Poulson statement by Asst. Dist. Atty. Calvin Friedberg. Poulson, who has already been convicted in the burglary and is currently appealing, stated that $375,000 was obtained from the Rich home, and the four perpetrators took $25,000 each, and the rest was to go to Miss Reis.

Simone charged the Commonwealth gave no direct evidence that Miss Reis was involved in the burglary. He said flatly the whole story of splitting up the loot and giving the lion's share to Miss Reis was "ridiculous" and added, "I don't believe four men were ever in the house."

This referred to Poulson, John Berkery and Ralph Staino Jr., already convicted, and Vincent Blaney, slain before he could come to trial.

High Price Fails To Deter Gardeners

HOBART, Tasmania (AP) — A member of the Tasmanian parliament who didn't want to sell daffodil bulbs is now exporting them to England, the Netherlands, the United States, Japan, New Zealand and all parts of Australia.

Several years ago William Jackson wrote an article on daffodils for the London Horticultural Society's Year Book. He began to get inquiries about some rare pink daffodils he'd mentioned. Not wanting to sell any, Jackson put a high price on the flowers — $11.20 per bulb. He sold 10 in no time and business has continued to boom.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE CRAIG - REED MIXUP

The historical and genealogical study of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Burial ground is continued at this time with additional data on Lt. Thomas Reed, a soldier from Carroll's Tract, this County, in the War of the American Revolution.

As narrated in last week's column after Thomas Reed failed to return from what he thought would be a short tour of duty in the Continental Army, his wife, Mary (Craig) Reed, believing her husband to be dead, returned to her father's home in Bucks County, Pennsylvania. In fact, according to testimony given by Alexander Rowan in the pension application, word came "in the Fall" to the Reed home in Carroll's Tract that "Thomas Reed was dead." There was a mistake somewhere for, not too long after Mrs. Reed returned to her father's house, her husband returned "in the following Summer."

Alexander Rowan continued his account — as follows:—"TAKEN PRISONER"

"He (Thomas Reed) had been taken prisoner, some place in Jersey and detained as a prisoner for some nine months. He (Reed) said that he was confined in a very dark place — perhaps a prison ship."

"Mrs. Ditterline (Jane Reed, the daughter of Thomas and Mary (Craig) Reed and the wife of Charles Ditterline) was with her mother a great deal."

"Colonel Paxton says that Thomas Reed was confined, as a prisoner of the British, in a church in New Jersey."

General T. C. Miller gave additional testimony —

(6th sheet) "Thomas Reed lived near Millerstown (now Fairfield), Adams County, Pennsylvania. After he returned from the service, he lived for about one year (farmed) one summer on the farm of his father-in-law, Captain Thomas Craig, in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, near Doylestown.

GOT INTO A SPREE

"He (Thomas Reed) married Mary Craig in the year 1777, in Bucks County, during the War. He was introduced to Mary Craig by her father, Captain Thomas Craig. The Reeds then moved to this County. Later, after about a year's residence in Bucks County, he (Thomas Reed) got into a spree and went off. He remained away about 18 months. His wife, Mary (Craig) Reed, remained for awhile in Adams County on his (Reed's) farm; but concluding that he was dead, she returned to her father's in Bucks County."

"Thomas Reed returned to his home late one night. He had just been released from prison — having been taken prisoner by the British in New Jersey and confined on Long Island. After this he lived on his farm in this County and continued so to do until his death in the year 1812."

"He (Thomas Reed) separated from his wife about three years before his death (about 1809). From that time on Mary (Craig) Reed resided in Bucks County, in the family of her father, Captain Thomas Craig."

"Thomas Craig, the father of Mary (Craig) Reed, removed to Adams County, Pennsylvania, in or about 1814, and lived in the family of Major William Miller, in Millerstown (now F field). His daughter, the widow of Thomas Reed, lived with her father in the Miller family. Captain Craig died shortly after coming up to this County. After one year Mary (Craig) Reed bought the D. Tavern stand in Gettysburg and resided there until her death in 1823 — in the family of Charles Ditterline and his wife."

"Thomas and Mary (Craig) Reed left issue — a son, Craig Reed, and a daughter, Jane Reed, the wife of Charles Ditterline." This concludes the testimony

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

When Valentine Voyno-Yasenetsky graduated from school at the age of 20, he was given a New Testament. He had read it before, but now he was struck by the words of Jesus to his disciples:

"The harvest truly is plenteous, but the laborers are few; Pray ye therefore of the Lord of the harvest that he will send forth laborers into his harvest."

Voyno-Yasenetsky went on to become a famous scientist and surgeon not only in Czarist Russia but in the hostile, anti-Christian environment of Communist Russia. And at the age of 44, in 1921, he became a priest and later was known to the Russian Orthodox Church as Archbishop Lukas. During World War II he was director of the Krasnoyarsk Hospital and at the same time archbishop of Yenisey diocese.

RUSSIA LIMITS YANKS' TRAVEL

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets have accused four members of the U.S. Embassy of suspected espionage and told them they cannot travel outside Moscow for 90 days, an embassy spokesman said today.

The embassy said it had protested to the Soviet government and had denied that the officials were engaged in any improper activity or espionage.

The embassy said the Americans were Navy Cmdr. Stuart Savage, Navy Lt. Leonard Bracken, Air Force Lt. Col. Edgar Smith and Air Force Capt. Edmund Zvetina.

STOPPED BY CROWD

The American spokesman said the two Navy officers were involved in an incident on Feb. 14 in Leningrad, a seaport.

The attaches, the spokesman said, were riding in a car when it was stopped by a crowd of "irate citizens" for 15 to 20 minutes. The crowd accused the Americans of having made illegal photographs. They were then permitted to go without further incident.

No photographs were made, the spokesman said.

The two Air Force attaches, the embassy said, were involved in a similar incident on March 17 in Tula, south of Moscow, while driving from Orel to the capital.

Paxton, of this County, Mr. Charles S. Ditterline to Miss Jane M. Reed, both of this Borough (Gettysburg, Pa.).

Note — The bride, in this case was the daughter of Lt. Thomas and Mary (Craig) Reed, and the wedding ceremony was performed by the minister of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church.

The notes on the Reed - Craig families will be continued in this column next week.

taken by David McConaughty, Esq., regarding the pension application of the heirs of Lt. Thomas Reed.

"DEATH NOTICE"

The "death notice" of Lt. Thomas Reed was not published in the "Adams Centinel" but from the pension papers it is known that he died in 1812. Without a doubt he was buried in the Reed (or Reid) family plot in Lower Marsh Creek burial ground. If his grave was ever marked, and it is very possible that it was, the stone has long since disappeared.

peared.

Mary (Craig) Reed, the widow of the soldier, died in Gettysburg, in 1823 —

1. Adams Centinel, Wednesday, September 10, 1823 —

"Died, in this Borough, on Thursday night, September 4th, 1823, in the 63rd year of her age, Mrs. Mary Reed. Her friendships were not such as, being widely diffused, are often weakened by the multiplicity of the objects on which they are bestowed — they were few and more strongly expressed in actions rather than in words, and such as were worth possessing. But a few days since we saw her in the enjoyment of health, at the sick beds of her nearest relatives, soothing them by her kind and unremitting assiduties, which probably induced the fatal disease which has removed her from all earthly solitude."

In Area A of the Evergreen Cemetery, not too far from the grave of Jennie Wade, is the last resting place of Mary (Craig) Reed. She was probably first buried in the old Presbyterian graveyard, located on the west side of the first block of N. Washington St., Gettysburg, and when the bodies from that plot were removed to the Evergreen — those of Mrs. Reed, her daughter, Jane (Reed) Ditterline, and the latter's husband, Charles Ditterline, were reinterred in the family plot of a grandson, Theodore Ditterline.

Apparently the estrangement between Mary (Craig) Reed and her late husband, Thomas Reed, was complete and she had no desire to be buried with him. 2. Adams Centinel, Wednesday, May 18, 1814 — "Married, Thursday, May 12th 1814, by the Rev. Mr. William

Library Expert Leads Drive To Build Greater Resources, Says Public Seeks Knowledge

By EDWARD S. KITCH
CHICAGO (AP) — A library expert, Eleanor A. Ferguson, says accurate and modern library resources are not always available. So she's spearheading a crusade to do something about it.

Miss Ferguson is executive secretary of the public libraries division of the 25,000-member American Library Association.

Although her responsibility covers the smallest of the associations 16 divisions, Miss Ferguson's technical knowledge of libraries sets the important policy and standards for 82,000 U.S. public libraries and 50 state legislative units.

She is impressed with the great demands our modern society is placing on libraries.

DEMAND FOR KNOWLEDGE
"The growth of knowledge in the last few years is tremendous," she says. "And unless the library has the information organized for legislators and researchers they can not expect to have it."

"A library is organized to enable you to find what you want when you want it."

Miss Ferguson reflects her down-to-earth, country-wide upbringing.

Born in Indianapolis, she spent her childhood in Illinois, Texas, Alabama and New Hampshire.

She has degrees from Radcliffe College, Simmons School of Library Science in Boston and Columbia University School of Library Service in New York.

WIDE EXPERIENCE
She has served in libraries in Utica, Jamestown and Rochester, N.Y.; Council Bluffs, Iowa and Dearborn, Mich.

She was the first director of the Connecticut Department of Center.

Miss Ferguson has prepared a special study of library standards for use at the state level.

"The United States is at a significant point in the development of its educational and cultural life," she says.

"For many years we have struggled to get better schools for children and to provide continuing education for adults."

"Students and adults are turning to the fountain of knowledge, but it is often dry."

PRIORITY NEEDED

"The development of adequate library resources should take high priority in the programs of the states, in order to capitalize upon a golden opportunity."

Miss Ferguson recommends among her 62 minimum standards for state libraries that they each contain a collection of at least 50,000 to 75,000 volumes of legal material.

"One or two states need well over half of these standards now," she says.

In addition, every state should have available a vast store of knowledge, so that any citizen or organization can get it when needed.

CHANGED ATTITUDES

"But we are making progress," she says. "One of the things pushing us into progress is the changing attitude of public schools."

"In the 5th and 6th Grades, children have to use a lot of books. They call it research. By the time a student is in high school, he's doing college work."

Many states are establishing regional libraries where sizable collections of books enable lending within a 100-mile area.

New York is organized completely with 29 regional systems. Maryland has 20 which all but cover the state. California has just enacted a state law enabling counties of the state to work effectively in handling the exchange of library books.

TORONTO WINS SEMIFINALS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The sweet smell of success hung over the Toronto dressing room.

Goalie Johnny Bower had just skated off the ice, a horseshoe garland of 1,500 roses draped over his shoulders.

Meanwhile, George Armstrong administered a soda shampoo to Dave Keon's crew-cut hair.

The Leafs were celebrating their 3-1 victory over Montreal in the seventh and deciding game of their Stanley Cup semifinal playoff.

Keon scored all three goals and Bower kicked out all but one of 39 shots, sending the Leafs into the Cup final against the Detroit Red Wings, who defeated Chicago 4-2 in the seventh game of their semifinal.

The Leafs, winners of the Stanley Cup the last two years, will open defense of the title at home Saturday, but there was little looking ahead in the dressing room.

TWO JESUITS ARE LIVING LIKE HINDUS

POONA, India (AP)—Two Jesuit priests are pioneering a movement within their church—they are living like Hindus.

The Rev. G.A. Deleury of Paris and the Rev. Matthew Lederle of Munich, Germany, spend much of their time sitting cross-legged on the floor, talking with Hindus and learning about the Hindu religion and way of life.

Father Lederle is writing part of his thesis for his doctorate at Poona University.

The Christian church has been in India for nearly 2,000 years, since the days of St. Thomas the Apostle, the "doubting Thomas" of the gospels. Yet the progress of Christianity has been very slow here. Christians make up about 2½ per cent of India's 450 million population.

Because of this, the church has decided to use different ways to get across its message. Priests living with, and like, Hindus is one of these.

Both Father Lederle, 37, and Father Deleury, 42, have permission of their Jesuit superior and the bishop here to live in this manner.

Their simple, three-room apartment is in an area of Poona called the Brahmin section. The Brahmins, who number about 150,000 here in this section of Poona, are the highest caste of the Hindus.

"The church," Father Lederle said, "had had some success among the lower castes of Indians but there is very little dialogue or understanding of Christianity among the higher caste. Our apostolate is to serve as a bridge between Christianity and Hinduism."

In a small chapel in their apartment, the two priests say their Masses every morning. Father Deleury, who has let his hair grow like a Hindu holy man, is a recognized authority on Hinduism.

SAYS WOMEN PICTURED AS IDIOTS ON TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—“Women are being made to look like absolute idiots by television,” said Betty Furness, “and I think it is a very serious situation.”

Miss Furness, who quit her position as TV's top saleswoman a few seasons back to return to other performing areas and now has a daily CBS radio network show, points sadly to the situation comedies and to the commercials.

“It's like a battle of the sexes, with nothing to gain for the women. I have never caught a television show in which a woman was trying to be darling to her husband except ‘The Dick Van Dyke Show.’ It is almost as if the people at the top of the pyramid and decided to degrade women and never to let them be seen as real people.”

“Deeply Offended”

Miss Furness says that she is “deeply offended” by commercials showing attractive girls “who can't even keep their houses clean.”

“They constantly suggest that the American woman is totally incapable of doing the simplest household chores and they have them learning from men—repairmen and even delivery boys. Calvin has cleaned just about every sink in America and it is ridiculous. Imagine a grocery delivery boy teaching a middle-aged woman how to clean her kitchen floor.”

An unusual television series is scheduled for next season.

SERIES ON U. N.

A special foundation has been chartered to produce six 90-minute programs, each a drama showing some little-known, but nonpolitical activity of the United Nations. The funds—$4 million—have been contributed by a large corporation (Xerox) that will receive discreet identification but no commercials.

The filmed specials will be made on location all over the world and will star some of the great names of show business. Telsun Foundation, the project parent, offered each of the three major networks two of the projected shows. CBS turned them down, but NBC will broadcast two or perhaps three, and ABC the remainder.

MUCH TO BE HEARD ABOUT PRICE FIXING

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices and how they're really arrived at are again sharply to the fore with the steel antitrust indictments.

The average citizens' pocket-book is affected despite the long and often devious road from the prime producer to the retail tag on consumer products. And he wonders just how the price is set. Is he getting a fair shake?

So far the charges against eight major steel companies of conspiring from 1955 to 1961 to fix prices on carbon steel sheet such as used in autos and household appliances are only that—the charges are yet to be proved in court.

SURE TO BE AIRED

But sure to be aired in coming weeks and months is speculation on how many industries have conspired to fix prices and also the question: What roles do business ethics or fear of prosecution play in fixing prices, or steering clear of fixing them?

Federal antitrust suits in the electrical equipment, steel and other industries seek to answer these questions.

Or are prices just quietly administered, as often charged? That is, are the giants in any industry able to set about any price they think most likely to bring in the most profitable volume of sales, and must the little fellow just tag along?

CHARGED COMPLACENCY

This theory was advanced after prices failed to slide much in recent recessions in spite of sharp fall-offs in demand and therefore in production. The charge was that the giants were controlling supply to maintain prices.

Another postwar charge was that the wage-price spiral was opposed by neither labor nor management, that wage demands weren't fought against because companies could just raise prices to meet them. The charge was complacency at the expense of the consumer, with his unsatisfied urge to buy many gadgets.

The theory in a democracy is that prices are set by supply and demand. And if monopolies are formed, antitrust laws are passed to break them up, and government policing protects the consumer. Then it's just a question of how big is the demand for any product in relation to the supply of it—prices going up when demand exceeds supply, and dipping when unsold supplies pile up.

But in today's complex economy, this law of supply and demand often has a hard time operating.

GOVERNMENT CONTROLS

Government controls often keep prices from responding to supply and demand. The U.S. government used to set the price of sugar by raising or lowering the amount that could be imported.

It now enters into, or discusses, international agreements that regulate the supply, and therefore the price, of such things as coffee, tin, and even gold.

Management can argue that

Assign Funds For Juveniles, Aging

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton approved $95,717 in state allocations Wednesday for juvenile probation and social welfare services in six counties.

The allocations: Juvenile probation services—$1,816 for Centre County; $2,123 for Indiana County; $7,041 for Lancaster County; $2,714 for Lycoming County, and $85,416 for Philadelphia.

Services for the aging—$4,875 for an additional welfare worker in Centre County; $2,500 for day care activities in Lehigh County.

if the giants in any industry lowered prices enough, all the little competitors would die, and you'd be right back to monopolies.

And few, this side of the Soviet Union, would like to see the government take over the role of final arbiter of all prices.

Scranton Will Accept GOP Draft

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pennsylvania's Gov. William W. Scranton made what he described as "one final effort" to convince supporters that he is "not a candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination. But he did not close the door irrevocably Thursday because "no American has the right to take that position."

Appearing slightly nervous at a news conference jammed with nearly 50 newsmen and another 100 onlookers, Scranton said he would, if the GOP convention deadlocks, accept a draft that is "not engineered."
